U. S. BOMBERS STRIKE BERLIN IN DAY RAID

Germans Report Blow at Capital and Warn People of Other Attacks.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 8—American heavy bombers, striking into Germany after a lapse of several days, attempted to raid Berlin in a pre-Easter blow this afternoon, a German broadcast reported.

The attack was not confirmed immediately by American air headquarters. The capital was last attacked by the Americans March 22.

The broadcast said strong formations made the attempt but "suffered one of their heaviest defeats and none of the formations was able to cross the Elbe."

This recalled a similar claim made Thursday when 15th airforce bombers based in Italy raided the German-held Croatian capital of Zagreb. German announcements on that raid boasted their fighters had inflicted "one of the greatest strategical defeats suffered so far" by the allies, but returning crewmen reported only moderate resistance and a headquarters announcement said 16 enemy planes had been shot down to the loss of three bombers.

Other Raid Warnings

German radio stations snapped out the familiar "achtung (attention), achtung!" at 12:55 p. m. today warning Germans of the approach of enemy planes and indicating that American heavy bombers may have taken the air in major for after a rest of several days.

Allied air formations were seen crossing Dover straits and fighters headed toward the continent.

With a moon hanging brightly in the skies, the RAF's activities last night were limited to minelaying.

Shortly after 11:30 p. m., German long wave stations warned that "strong bomber formations reported approaching Germany are continuing on their way into central Germany," adding that "other enemy bomber formations are approaching southwest Germany."

Fierce Battles Reported

Later broadcasts said fierce air battles had developed over the heart of the reich during the afternoon.

"The enemy formations," one report said, "were intercepted and forced to give battle by German air defenses. Particularly heavy air battles were fought over central Germany. Violent air battles and the crashing of a number of enemy planes could be observed in the clear weather."

A still later broadcast warned "the approach of enemy bomber formations to northwest Germany is continuing."

PEACE DELEGATE? Columnist on the New York Times, Anne O'Hare McCormick has been suggested by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as a woman well qualified to serve on any American delegation for planning world peace. Mrs. Roosevelt, who has repeatedly urged women be represented in the peace making, said she did not consider herself qualified for the task because "I'm nearly 60."

DE GAULLE FAILS TO OUST GIRAUD

General Stands Pat in Face of Demands He Give Up Army Command.

By The Associated Press

ALGIERS, April 8—Gen. Henri Giraud refused to step down as commander in chief of French armed forces today and challenged Gen. Charles De Gaulle to oust him during a "disagreeable" 30-minute conference.

A French national committee member who described the meeting in De Gaulle's headquarters at noon said it was "not so well."

De Gaullist circles said, however, negotiations between the two French leaders were continuing with the likelihood of a definite decision tonight.

The show down between the two arose from De Gaulle's efforts to relegate Giraud to the unimportant post of "inspector general of the armies" and take over the command of French land, sea and air forces himself.

De Gaulle also was reported encountering trouble in getting the national committee's approval to oust Giraud, a move interpreted by Americans and Britons here as another maneuver against President Roosevelt's reported decision to entrust Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower with authority to negotiate with groups inside France. De Gaulle has sought recognition of himself and his national committee as the provisional government of liberated areas.

Darke Co. AAA Head Won't Quit Under Farmers' Threat

Today Is Deadline for Resignation Demanded as Climax To "Get Out or Else" Ultimatum.

By The Associated Press

GREENVILLE, O., April 8—Ira R. Fellers reiterated today he had "no intention of resigning" as chairman of the Darke county agricultural adjustment administration, despite a "deadline" set by a group of farmers who told him to "get out of office by April 8, or else."

Opposition to Fellers has been led by James Mannix, 28-year-old tenant farmer, president of the Wheat Quota Protest association of Darke county. Mannix said he would "call upon" Fellers if he still occupied office today.

"I'll be in my office Saturday," Fellers said earlier. He added he had asked no protection from law enforcement officers.

The Wheat Quota Protest association, through Mannix, asserted the AAA discriminated in the rationing of farm machinery and applications for farm gasoline.

The OPA this week announced that since mid-March it had instructed its rationing boards not to consult AAA officials in localities where such practice might lead to misunderstandings.

Promises to See Him

"I'm going to see him," the husky, reddish-haired Mannix told newsmen yesterday, "and if it's a rainy day like today, there might be some other farmers in town with me."

A group of AAA opponents destroyed records in three Darke county AAA offices last month. Dale Williams of the Ohio AAA committee said 50 or 60 men were in the parties which visited offices in York, Wabash and Franklin townships.

On the night of March 20, a group of men visited Fellers at his home in Arcanum and gave him until tomorrow to quit, Fellers disclosed.

Mannix charged the AAA office had shown discrimination in the rationing of farm machinery and applications for farm gasoline.

The young farmer said he had been tending 123 acres of land a mile north of here alone since his brother George, 26, was inducted a year and a half ago.

"It was tough sledding for a long time," he said in an interview, "and then just as it got so we could do pretty well, this AAA business came along."

Navy Sinks 28 Japanese Ships Without Damage to U. S. Vessel

Americans Sailed Into Jap Stronghold To Rule Sea West of Philippines in Carolines Raid.

By The Associated Press

U. S. PACIFIC HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, April 8—Navy officials were jubilant today over official reports that American warships dominated waters 600 miles from the Philippines for three days while hundreds of planes based on aircraft carriers sowed destruction in the Carolines more than 1,000 miles west of Truk.

Not one warship was damaged and only 25 planes were lost as the price for sinking 28 enemy ships, damaging 18, including a battleship, definitely destroying 160 Nipponese planes, probably wrecking 54 more, and strewing ruin at Palau, Yap, Ulithi and Woleai. American personnel losses totaled 18 airmen.

This feat of not losing a warship matched the task force performance Feb. 16-17 at Truk where 23 enemy ships were sunk, six probably sunk and 201 planes destroyed, and Feb. 22 in the Marianas where two enemy ships were sunk, nine damaged and 135 planes wiped out.

Post Well Fortified

Palau, long fortified Japanese Naval base 530 miles west of the Philippines and 4,595 miles from Pearl Harbor, was overwhelmed and blasted for two days. Large warships deserted the stronghold, forewarned by search planes, before the American armada could reach attack positions March 29 but on the night of the 28th a fleeing Japanese battleship was torpedoed and severly damaged by a submarine which slipped past screening destroyers.

Throughout March 29 and 30 Palau was pounded by hundreds of carrier planes.

At least 93 and probably 122 Nipponese interceptors went down in flames trying to stem these attacks. From 39 to 59 more were wrecked aground or in the water.

A communique of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said 25 enemy ships were sunk at Palau, including two destroyers, an unidentified combat ship, 10 cargo vessels, five oilers and a patrol vessel. The 18 damaged vessels, in addition to the battleship which got away, included a destroyer, a large repair ship, three oilers and 12 cargo vessels.

60 Buildings Demolished

In the Palau islands, 60 buildings, including 20 warehouses, were demolished. Hangars and docks were set ablaze.

Yap and Ulithi, northeast of Palau, were attacked March 30. Airdrome facilities and buildings were ripped at Yap. Several small vessels were sunk at Ulithi and the dock, radio station and other buildings damaged.

Woleai, midway between Palau and Truk, was raided March 31. From seven to 12 planes were destroyed, ground installations, stores, dumps, buildings and small craft damaged.

Some Japanese planes vainly attacked the task forces but the American warships, although moving more than 2,000 miles away from the Kwajalein lagoon base in the western Marshalls, did not stir up a challenge of the Japanese navy.

Synchronized air raids in the central, south and southwest Pacific helped make possible the deep naval excursion.

The Pacific fleet forces in the western Carolines strike were under the tactical command of Admiral Raymond A. Spruance. The carrier task force were commanded by Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher.

BASEBALL GROUP TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

To Report on Progress, Map Plans for Season.

Stockholders in Marion's new baseball club and all other persons who care to attend will meet Monday night at 7:30 in Hotel Harding to hear officials of the group review the progress that has been made so far and to map more detailed plans for the opening of the league season on May 2 when Lima will play the Marion team at the Lincoln Park diamonds.

The meeting Monday also will be a question and answer forum on the whole Marion club program if anyone has any questions to ask about the plans, club officials said.

Grover Hartley, who will be general manager, will be presented to the group and explain his plans so far and his hopes for the Marion team season. It is expected he will be able to give some report by Monday night whether Marion will be able to use the lighting system formerly used at Tiffin.

INJURIES FATAL

Japs Nearing Kohima in India

Tokyo Claims Capture but Allies Say No Decisive Battle Fought Yet.

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, April 8—Steady Japanese pressure in the Kohima area of India was reported today by Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's communique but the bulletin said no important engagement had yet taken place.

Kohima is 60 miles north of Imphal at the junction of the Imphal-Dimapur highway.

(The Japanese Domei agency broadcast a claim that Japanese troops, aided by forces of Subhas Chandra Bose's puppet "Indian national army," had captured Kohima on Thursday.)

Mountbatten said allied troops in the hills overlooking Imphal plain north of the big British base had driven the enemy from "one important feature" and had improved their positions in that area.

There was a slackening of action on the Tiddim-Imphal road to the south where the 17th Indian division finally fought its way clear of the last Japanese road obstruction to join the unified defense of the plain.

Japanese activity in the Kohima area was described here as of a "prowling" nature. This town is important in the line of communications reaching back to the Bengal Assm railway which feeds the North Burma offensive of Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell and the China air supply route. The Japanese have been reported within 35 miles of the railway after cutting the Imphal-Kohima road along 15 miles of its length.

The communique announced a particular success on the Arakan front where an English battalion captured an important village position southwest of Buthedaung in the offensive against Akyab on the bay of Bengal shore.

Marion Gunner in Italy Helps Shoot Down Nazi Fighter

A Marion gunner on the crew of a Liberator bomber that has been in the thick of new air blows at the Germans in Italy was credited in an Associated Press dispatch from Naples today with half of the credit for shooting down a Focke-Wulf Nazi fighter plane.

He is Staff Sgt. James B. McDonald, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. McDonald who are superintendent and matron of the Marion county juvenile detention home. He is the husband of Mrs. Margaret McDonald of 240 East Church street.

This action came in Tuesday's raid on Bucharest in which Sgt. McDonald and Tech. Sgt. Newton L. Hempel of Palmer, Tex., shared credit for downing the German plane. Hempel also got half credit with another gunner for downing another plane the same day.

McDonald entered service a year ago January and has been in Italy since last Christmas. He worked eight months in the Erie railroad offices here before entering service and before that was a student at Harding High school.

Other news today about air action in Italy reported that, an American combat patrol, after a sharp clash with the Germans, has established a new strongpoint northwest of Padiglione, slightly improving the allied line on the central sector of the beachhead below Rome.

On the east flank of the beachhead, allied artillery, mortars and tanks remained active and enemy buildings were gradually crumbling from repeated bombardment.

The Nazis continued to pour a harassing fire over the beachhead, but generally they remained on the defensive. Attempted enemy infiltrations were repulsed.

The airforces hammered heavily at German rail communications in Italy yesterday, flying about 1,700 sorties and destroying 31 enemy planes for a loss of three allied heavy bombers and seven other planes.

18 to 26 Age Group Faces First Draft Call Under Rules Now

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 8—This is the manpower and draft picture as of today:

Age group 18 through 25—no job deferments unless indorsement as key man is obtained from state draft director or man is employed in farming, merchant marine or army transport corps.

Age group 26 through 29—job deferments will be granted only for "necessary men" in war production or war effort supporting work, this reuirement to be "strictly applied."

Age group 30 and over—necessary-man requirement to be applied less strictly.

Fathers:

18-25 group—no consideration as fathers.

26-29 group—to be given some consideration over non-fathers, other deferment factors being equal.

30-and-over group—fathers to be given more liberal consideration.

4F's:

Those not already employed in essential occupations warned by Manpower Commissioner McNutt, Draft Director Hershey and a house military subcommittee which has been considering work-draft legislation, to apply immediately for such essential work.

Today most local draft boards were in receipt of the latest selective service instructions dividing those of draft age into the three age brackets.

Although dependency as a test for deferment has long since yielded to job essentiality and age, the boards were told that prewar fathers 26 and over will normally be accorded job deferments in preference to non-fathers. In the case of men over 30, the armed services have made it clear that in most cases, untrained older men are not wanted.

It also was announced that the present list, including 35 general fields of activity important to the war effort, is to be used in determining which 4-F's will be considered in essential work.

Chairman Costello, Democrat of California, of a house military subcommittee observed that he had "no desire to establish some sort of labor conscription," but said his committee has not abandoned a plan to draft 4-F's into a work corps if they do not voluntarily take essential employment.

MARION CAP PLANES SCOUR WIDE AREA

Make Search About Time Lost Ship Found Elsewhere.

Three Marion Civil Air Patrol planes, each carrying a pilot and an observer, made a systematic search of an area of 2,000 square miles in Marion and nearby counties yesterday as part of the far-flung hunt for a missing CAP plane that carried three Michigan men to their death.

The Marion hunt was being carried on at the time an announcement came from Michigan yesterday saying the plane had been found eight miles west of Ann Arbor where it had crashed. Bodies of Robert Burke, Allen Dillon and Richard Ford, who had left Benton Harbor, Mich., in the plane Monday night, were found near the plane.

Intermittent rain and low visibility made it necessary for the Marion fliers to hold their planes to about 500 feet to make an effective search. The Marion squadron's participation in the hunt was made on order of CAP Wing headquarters in Columbus.

Each of three Marion planes was assigned to a specific area and patrolled it carefully. Pilots were Lieut. J. H. Barnhart, Pvt. J. L. Zant and Lieut. W. R. Reichenstein. The observers were Cpl. P. J. Lauterbach, Pfc. George G. Brown and Lieut. P. J. McCleary.

Thursday, the Mansfield squadron patrolled a 2,500-square-mile area as part of the search, and other CAP units in northern Ohio and eastern Michigan also took part in the hunt. The search extended into Ohio because the last radio message from the missing plane said it was being headed toward Ohio with enough fuel to carry it some 300 miles. Weather conditions had made it impossible to make a scheduled landing at Detroit.

County Red Cross War Fund Grows

The Red Cross scoreboard stood at $51,791.79 today, or about $380 ahead of yesterday's total, thanks to donors who are responding to the war fund committee's plea to "give again."

The new total is 92.34 per cent of the $56,000 goal and leaves $4,208.21 to be raised, Chairman J. D. Torrance said. He said the checks and currency coming in by mail has given the chapter new hope of reaching its goal in the near future.

A new squad of workers was being organized today to carry the "give again" appeal to the downtown business houses and some of the larger individual givers. This group, headed by Chris Turoff, will start work Monday in an effort to supplement the donations that have been coming in by mail.

O.S.U. Humor Magazine Absolved of Charge

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 8—Ohio State university's humor magazine, the Sundial, has been absolved of the accusation of printing the picture of a nude co-ed, but supervision over the publication has been tightened for the remainder of the quarter.

The committee of student publications, headed by James E. Pollard, school of journalism director, said the model wore a strapless evening gown, and had not been photographed in the nude as had been charged by James R. Fullen in an editorial in the Ohio State alumni monthly.

BLAME WRECK ON FOREMAN

N. Y. C. Passenger Train Piles Up as Crew Chief Leaves Switch Open.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, O., April 8—Failure of a maintenance crew foreman to close a switch caused the wreck of the New York Central railroad's "New York Special" yesterday, Division Superintendent Fred A. Dawson announced today.

The engineer and fireman were killed and at least 13 persons injured as the train piled up four miles southeast of here.

Dawson did not disclose the name of the foreman, but said he had been informed the crew had taken its small car into a siding to let another train go by, then pulled out and went down the track without closing the switch.

Engineer John Nelson, 61, a veteran of 41 years service with the New York System, and Fireman Clarence C. Martin, 46, with the line 22 years, were fatally scalded by live steam in the cab of the locomotive when it turned on its side in a mud bank. Both were from Columbus.

List of Injured

The following civilians and soldiers were injured, none seriously:

Kenneth B. Meyer, 48, of Norwood, O., an extra passenger brakeman who was doubling as a baggage clerk;

Mrs. Isabel Foster, 49, and her sister, Miss Jean Nelson, 56, both of route 5, Springfield;

Mrs. Michael Preston, 20, of Warren, O., who was returning home with her husband, a veteran of the Guadalcanal campaign, recently discharged; and William S. Dowty, 31, of Troy, O., a restaurant employe.

Service men (stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., unless otherwise designated) are:

Sgt. Sharon Lee, 22, Akron, O., from Municipal airport, Memphis, Tenn., possible shoulder fracture.

Pvt. John Durkin, 30, Beacon, N. Y.; Pvt. Dennis MacDowell, 35, Hampstead, L. I.; Sgt. Wyatt S. Bates, 26, Senecaville, O., from Tyndall Field, Panama City, Fla.; Pvt. Harold Sedel, 27, Cleveland, O., from Stout Field, Ind.; and Pvt. Jerry Schwartz, 33, Cleveland, O., from Camp Campbell, Ky.

All the servicemen had been released from hospitals early this morning.

Seven Cars Derailed

Seven of the 10 cars in the Cincinnati-to-Cleveland train were derailed. A baggage car and combination baggage-passenger car came to a stop leaning against a bank, while four other cars left the track.

A window in one car was pierced by a utility pole which had snapped off, but passengers were unharmed except for minor cuts from flying glass.

Most of the injured soldiers suffered bruises.

Screaming, frightened passengers were helped from the leaning cars by soldiers who had escaped injury.

The three cars remaining on the tracks after the wreck were rerouted to Columbus over Pennsylvania railroad tracks, as was other Big Four traffic.

All the injured were treated in Columbus hospitals.

REDS TIGHTEN RING AROUND BLACK SEA CITY

One Soviet Army 9 Miles from Port and Another 16 Miles Away.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, April 8—Germans and Rumanians were reported in flight from Odessa today as the Russian army drew tight a siege arc which pressed as close as 9.6 miles to the northeast of the big Black sea port, scene of long-drawn Soviet resistance in 1941.

A dispatch by Capt. Konstantin Tokarev to Red Star said one group of Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian army caught an enemy column hurrying from the city along a narrow muddy road northwest of the port and achieved so great a surprise that the enemy was unable to put up resistance.

Tokarev gave these exact distances of the Soviet iron ring about Odessa:

To the northeast, 9.6 miles;

To the northwest, 16.8 miles.

Great panic swept through little outskirt villages between lakes Kulalnitzky and Khadzhibay as Russian cavalry and tanks followed by infantry broke down one defense line after another in the five-mile wide land corridor approaching Odessa from the northeast, the correspondent reported.

Forty-five miles northwest of the Black sea metropolis the right flank of Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian army tightened a cordon around the remnants of five or six shattered German divisions (perhaps 25,000 to 50,000 men) trapped above the rail junction of Razdelnaya when that strategic strongpoint was captured Wednesday.

In a two-day battle which followed, the Russian communique said, 5,000 Germans were killed and more than 1,000 captured, as the encircled foe tried to crack the Russian ring.

The resistance of other large German forces surrounded near Skala and in Tarnopol to the northwest was gradually weakening, dispatches said.

Repeated Nazi attempts to relieve the Tarnopol garrison fighting in the city's streets were reported repulsed with heavy losses, while all efforts to cut through the Skala pocket proved abortive, 4,000 Germans being wiped out by Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's first Ukrainian army troops.

Mayaki, taken by a Russian column driving down the east bank of the Dniester river from Baden, is at the end of the Dniester estuary, 13 miles north of Ovidiopol, ferry terminus where the last escape route from Odessa crosses the eight-mile wide mouth of the estuary to Akkerman in lower Bessarabia. Ovidiopol is 18 miles west of Odessa.

Khaki, Navy Blue To Vie with Bright Colors Easter Day

By The Associated Press

Ohio will see one of its gayest Easter parades this year, thanks to women's clothes, but Navy blue or Army khaki will be popular colors for service men home on leave.

A survey of pre-Easter buying showed women's clothes sales up 29 per cent—due, many merchants' associations believe, to the increased number of women in industry and purses well-filled with war work wages.

Florists reported a scarcity of cut flowers because many greenhouse workers have answered the call to the colors. An ample supply of potted plants was seen.

More cosmetics are being sold than last year, despite the luxury tax, merchants reported.

Columbus stores reported record-breaking throngs of Easter buyers.

W. H. Gray of the Cleveland Retail Merchants board said some stores there had the largest volume of business in years.

Cincinnati's retail merchants association said sales were "considerably above last year."

Canton reported a "substantial increase" in Easter clothes buying as a direct result of record-breaking employment. Newark reported an increase of 20 per cent in Easter buying.

Washington C. H., merchants reported a "run" on women's suits.

Special Sermons and Music In Easter Programs of Marion Churche

Sunrise Services Set To Open Holy Day's Observance.

"IN THE END of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre. And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it. His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow: And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men. And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay." Matt. 28:1-6.

By ELAINE BALLINGER

EASTER dawn will glow with a particular significance at sunrise tomorrow as thousands of worshipers throughout the Christian world gather on hillsides, in cathedrals, churches and chapels to greet the hope of resurrection, a hope that lights their hearts in triumph over war and evil. Multitudes will rejoice as hearts feel a promise of new life, not only of spiritual life, but of a renewing of liberty and justice, hope for lives reconstructed for countless victims of the kind of hate that crucified "our Lord."

Voices of Marion worshipers will join the multitude in singing at dawn, at mid-morning, and all through the day the "Allelujah, He is Risen." Places of worship will be adorned with flowers in brightest array and candlelight and crosses alight will add to the brightness of the day.

Earliest sunrise services will call worshipers together before it it yet day and others will follow throughout early morning hours Communion and the rite of baptism will be included in some services. Groups will join in fellowship at breakfasts in community houses and church dining rooms following the services.

Special Music Arranged

For mid-morning services special music has been prepared, Glorias will be chanted, Easter anthems will be sung, marches, processionals, instruments and voices will unite in proclaiming the resurrection through music. Ministers will give special sermons, the sacraments of communion and of baptism will be administered and new members will be welcomed in various congregations. Children will share in the celebration in special programs with Easter readings, recitations, songs, stories and exercises.

Cantatas setting forth the Easter story will be given by choir groups in morning and evening services and an Easter drama will be presented.

Sunrise Services

The earliest sunrise service will be at 6 a. m. at Wesley Methodist church with communion and breakfast. Seven sunrise services will follow in various churches throughout the city and the annual sunrise service at the Harding Memorial sponsored by the Hi-Y and Girl Reserve groups of Harding High school will be held at 7:30 a. m. In case of inclement weather the service will be held in Trinity Baptist church.

Marion Commandery No. 36, Knights Templar, will attend the sunrise service sponsored by youth groups of Calvary and Oakland Evangelical churches at the Calvary church at 6:30.

Other services at 6:30 will include Central Christian, with baptism; Greenwood Evangelical; Salem Evangelical and Reformed, with communion; Prospect Street Methodist; Forest Lawn Presbyterian; First U. B. Youth groups of Epworth Methodist church will gather at Our House for breakfast following the Harding Memorial service.

The sacrament of baptism will be administered in the following churches in the morning services, Trinity Baptist, First Church of the Brethren, Calvary Evangelical, St. Paul's English Lutheran, Wesley Methodist, Forest Lawn Presbyterian, First U. B.

Communion Rites

Communion rites will be observed in morning services as follows, St. Paul's Episcopal, Emanuel Lutheran, First Evangelical and Reformed, Salem Evangelical and Reformed, Second Pilgrim Holiness and Church of Christ in Christian Union. Communion and Love feast will be marked in First Church of the Brethren at the evening service, 7:45.

Special programs of music will be presented in Trinity Baptist church at 7:30 p. m., and First U. B. at 7:30. A program will be given at Wesley Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. and a morning children's program will be heard at First Church of the Brethren at 9:30. An Easter drama, Challenge of the Cross," will be presented at Epworth Methodist church at 7:30 p. m.

St. Mary Services

Special Easter music will mark high mass at 9 a. m. in St. Mary Catholic church. The High Mass of Rosseni with the Proper of the Mass by Tozer will be sung by the St. Mary Girls' choir. The opening of the mass will be the Vidi Aquam, offertory will be Terra Tremuit and recessional "Allelujah." Low masses will be at 6 a. m., 7:30, 10:30 and 11:30 with benediction of the blessed sacrament. Rev. Father Benedict Rubeck of Our Lady of Carey seminary will be guest priest assisting in the services Rev. Father William J. Spickerman and Rev. Father Francis Lay.

Easter music will be a principal part of the Easter Eucharist service at St. Paul's Episcopal church at 10:45 a. m. Rev. S. S. Hardy, rector, will give the Easter sermon. In the Sunday school hour at 9:30 a. m. Lenten Mite boxes will be presented. Early communion will be at 8 a. m.

At Emanuel Lutheran church Easter music will be a feature of the service at 10:30 a. m. Rev. J. W. Schillinger, D. D. of Columbus, president of the Ohio district of the American Lutheran church will assist in the communion rite. Junior and Senior choirs will sing.

From Cross To Crown

A Sermonette

By Rev. S. S. HARDY

Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church

EVENTS move rapidly at times to a mighty climax. Never did they move more speedily nor to greater heights than from the Cross to the Crown, from Calvary to Christ's Resurrection.

In the Apostles Creed this swift action is told in a few simple words, "Was crucified, dead and buried: . . . The third day He rose again from the dead." Here were events so stupendous as to defy the power of words.

From Cross to Crown was of brief duration as one follows the hands of a clock, but it was a change from era to era in the horologe of God's eternity. In the garden of Joseph of Arimathaea as the first shafts of light gilded the morning sky, Christ's fight was o'er, the battle won.

THAT victory, like all that are really worth while, led through the valley of sacrifice, suffering, blood, sweat, and tears. When Christ said, "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone" He was thinking of the Cross; when He added, "but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit" His thoughts ran on to the Crown. And He knew this way must be the way for all mankind.

Today, as we keep Easter, we think of all who by privations, partings, persecutions, agony, wounds and even death bear their cross in the steps of Christ. We know that for them there is a crown. Sacrifice for a righteous cause is never made in vain.

We have the Resurrection assurance that at the end of every passion there is the more abundant life, both here and hereafter, with the Risen Christ. Easter illumines every sacrifice with the radiant light of faith.

THIS truth holds good for nations as well as for individuals, for the way of sacrifice and service in a righteous cause is the way of Deity in whose image we are made. "God so loved the world He gave His only begotten Son." Because God is love He could not possibly have done otherwise, for love is the motivating power in all true sacrifice. With such a motive moving men and nations in a just cause the way of the Cross can lead to no other heights than that of the Crown. Let us ponder these thoughts as we celebrate this Easter day.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gabler of 296 Clover avenue will entertain the C. I. B. class of First Evangelical and Reformed church Friday night at 8.

Come to Church

Easter Sunday

Surely never before was our world more in need of renewal of faith. Never has mankind so needed the strength and inspiration of the church.

Go to church Easter Sunday. Thank God for His blessing and ask guidance and strength to carry the burdens of today and the tomorrow.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RECORD

GALION, April 9—Sometimes the snow was drifted across the roads, sometimes the weather was near zero, but Miss Marcella Sargel who lives one and one-half miles east of Galion, has left nothing like the weather keep her from attending Sunday school, to establish a record of 16 years perfect attendance at Peace Lutheran church, here.

In all those years she has not missed a single Sunday, and as a reward for her record, she was awarded the sixteen-year bar for her pin. She has distinction of being the only one in the congregation of the church to have a record of such perfect attendance for such a long period of time.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sargel of the Cronenwett road, Marcella helps the war effort of driving and delivering milk from the dairy farm of her parents. Her hobby is horseback riding, and owns a saddle horse. She was graduated from Galion High school in 1941.

PRAYER OF HOPE

Every Fighting Man's Prayer . . . This EASTER . . .

Their whispering words will rise from their very souls to the heavens—from foxholes deep with mud: from cockpits of planes: from every battle station on ship or submarine: and from wherever a democracy-loving man-in-uniform's duty finds him, on Easter morning.

"Let the bloodshed and torn bodies . . . the death and destruction end, Oh Lord. Let the United Nations' Victory come quickly, so that more of us can be home in the bosoms of our families next Easter," . . .

Then will pour out the Easter prayer each man knows so well—and as he speaks it he will conjure up the image of himself, surrounded by those he loves—all dressed in Spring finery—standing side by side in Church. His Church. And that all men may worship as they see fit, in the Church of each man's faith—that is for what he fights today. That is what he prays to come home to!

Rev. D. E. Howard Gives Pension Society Talk

Members of the Old Age Pension society of Marion county heard a talk by Rev. D. E. Howard, guest speaker, a program of musical numbers and talks by several of the members at their meeting Friday afternoon. A song, "America," and salute to the Flag by the group and in invocation by Rev. Frank Berry opened the meeting. Rease Jenkins, T. F. Manbart, William F. Porter, Mrs. Dessa Sharp, Mrs. Lillian Loper, Mrs. Louise Hornbeck and Mrs. Brown reported on recipients.

Rev. Howard talked on "Jesus and the Disciples and the Crucifixion," and sang "I'd Rather Have Jesus than Anything." Rev. Howard and Mrs. Lillian Loper sang "Take Your Trouble to the Lord and Leave It There," with the accordion accompaniment played by Rev. Howard. A request reading, "Jonah and the Whale," by Mrs. Loper, a reading by Mrs. Sharp and a song "I Love to Tell the Story," by the choir, completed the program. The benediction was spoken by Rev. Berry.

LOYALTY CLASS MEETS

The program was in charge of Mrs. Frank Phillips. Mrs Clifford Willoughby and Mrs. Phillips gave readings. A contest was conducted by Mrs. Ed Walker and won by Mrs. Converse.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ross and her committee, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Martin Smith and Mrs. Lowell Cook.

Guests were Mrs. Lulu Merchant and Miss Bess Mounts.

The next meeting will be with Mrs Converse of 140 Dix avenue.

Old Injury Is Fatal to Hardin County Man

KENTON, April 8—Arnold R. Painter, 37, died this week in a Columbus hospital as a result of head injuries suffered in 1933 when he was in a farm accident at home of his father, Scott Painter, near Bucyrus. The body was removed to the McAlexander funeral home in nearby Bell Center where services were held this afternoon. Burial was in Roundhead cemetery, near where the Painter family had resided for many years.

Man's Body Is Found in Creek at Galion

GALION, April 8—The body of Forest Wellington Faile, 47, was discovered in Whetstone creek near the Big Four reservoir, in Galion, not far from his home, Friday about 4 o'clock. He suffered a fractured skull when his head struck a stone in the creek when he either fell or jumped from the Big Four railroad bridge that crosses the creek. Dr. O. R. Kackley, Crawford county coroner, said he had been in ill health for some time and that he believed death to be suicide.

Born in Galion, June 12, 1896, Forest Faile was the son of William and Nora Beck Faille. He served as a private in World War I, and was honorably discharged on Dec. 9, 1918. He was a machinist by trade.

It's Easter for Them Too!

They Welcome the Opportunity To Attend Religious Services

EVIL, backed by Force, may prevail for a time. Yet the Right and the Truth handed down to us by the Prophets of old and by the Sermon On The Mount eventually triumph . . . simply because Right and Truth alone can inspire men to battle whate'er the cost.

YES — the world may change, but the real Truths which are God's Will are Eternal. That is why a special message awaits you in the church this Easter season. You will find inspiration in the church services . . spirit-lifting devotional music by fine choirs.

Eat Another Egg, Plea To Cut Surplus

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 8 — "Won't you please eat another egg?"

The war food administration asked that question of the civilian population today as it inaugurated a campaign to increase egg consumption immediately and maintain it at a high level until at least May 15.

Egg economics form a curious contradiction of the maxim that you can't eat your cake and have it, too. You can eat your eggs and have more of them; and if you don't eat them now, you'll have a very much smaller supply available later this year and next year.

"Without increased consumption now," the WFA said, "it is probable that losses to farmers will force them to liquidate heavily their laying flocks and the nation will face the possibility of an inadequate egg supply late this year and throughout next year."

American Soldiers Like Features of English Plumbing

American soldiers in England are commenting favorably in their letters on some of the features of English plumbing.

There is a possibility that some of these ideas may find application in post-war houses which returning soldiers will build.

One of these ideas is the departmentizing of the bathroom. In many houses and flats built in England before the war began, the bathtub is placed in a separate little room of its own. Thus if one bather likes to splash for 20 minutes, he doesn't tie up traffic for the rest of the family.

Another interesting touch in some of the newer English houses and flats which seems to appeal to American soldiers is the placing of the lavatory or washbowl in the bedroom. In many of the newer houses, there is a lavatory with hot and cold running water in every bedroom.

While the idea of a lavatory in every bedroom has been used to some extent in American homes, it has never found wide application. Because fine vitreous china lavatories, with their lustrous finish and handsome chromium plated legs, are fully as attractive as the best furniture, there is no reason why a lavatory should not be in a bedroom, from a decorative standpoint.

Equipped with a wide ledge, serving as a convenient shelf for cosmetics, the lavatory in a bedroom in post-war homes will be used as a dressing table.

Because English homes are not heated as warmly as American homes, the English use towel warmers consisting of chromium or nickel-plated pipes through which hot water circulates. While this feature, too, has been commented on favorably in many letters, it is doubtful if it has any practical application in radiator-heated post-war American bathrooms.

WAX REMOVER

Too heavy applications of furniture polish, wax, etc., to woodwork may be removed with turpentine. After removing same, wax or polish again.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES

O. S. U. Extension Floriculturist.

Q. I would like to know if you can control small bugs that appear every year on our hackberry tree; we are thinking of cutting it down.

A. The lace wing bugs that appear each year on your hackberry are extremely difficult to control. If you will carefully watch the underside of the leaves this spring you will find the young lace winged flies are greenish in color and not over one-sixteenth to one-eighth of an inch in length. As soon as you see them, the tree should be sprayed with a mixture of nicotine sulphate, one pint, soap flakes, five pounds, and 100 gallons of water. This would have to be put on with a power sprayer taking care to hit the underside of every leaf. It might be necessary to give a second application within a couple of weeks if the first one was not sufficiently thorough.

Q. Will you please name or recommend a low ornamental tree or tall attractive bush to plant near a kitchen bay window? Am especially interested in the beauty of the plant but would like one that would attract birds. This bay is on the north of the one-story house.

Also want to plant an attractive low ornamental tree at the corner of a flagstone terrace in front of the house which will shade another bay window which faces east. The tree would be about 20 feet from the house.

A. There are several small trees which I believe you will find satisfactory for ornamental as well as for attracting the birds, the Washington thorn, (Crataegus cordata) and shadbush (Amelanchier canadensis).

The Amur honeysuckle (Lonicera maacki) is a very large shrub that will give you some pruning problem but at the same time is [illegible], holds its foliage [illegible], and has berries through the winter or at least until the birds eat them.

For shading your terrace, I would recommend the redbud, almost any of the flowering crabs or any of the plants I have suggested above. Another very lovely small tree with excellent foliage and summer bloom is the sweet bay magnolia (M. glauca). It is a little slow to get started.

Eternal Faith

THE Easter theme of faith never was stronger in men's minds and hearts than it is today. It sustains men in the peril of battle, and it gives their loved ones courage to endure the separations and heartaches of a troubled time. To millions who have been reduced to helplessness by disaster, it is the only solace in misery and desperation.

Faith, in a larger sense, gives all of us the vision to believe that out of what we are doing will come some greater ultimate good than mankind has yet experienced. We are able to sense the coming of great opportunities, even in the midst of uncertainty and despair. Faith furnishes a higher guidance for our leadership and gives followers that sense of great purpose without which effort would dwindle to frustration.

It is secular, as well as religious, faith which performs this miracle—faith that is bound in the souls of men as irrevocably as human instinct. Religion furnishes its most exalted expression, but the same source is found in human beings everywhere, whatever their formal beliefs. We feel it and respond to it, and we believe, too, that our enemies in a war being fought because men were untrue to their faith are feeling it. One day all men will find in its existence a common ground for understanding when we have tried a great deal harder and come a great deal closer to the eternal dream of peace on earth to all men of goodwill.

One Thing at a Time

A LOT of the conclusions being jumped at off the narrow springboard of the Wisconsin primary and Mr. Willkie's ensuing withdrawal as a contender for the Republican presidential nomination are bound to be wrong. They don't square up with the realities.

The contest for the Republican presidential nomination is a matter to be worked out one thing at a time. Mr. Willkie has withdrawn. That is a development, though it has relatively little bearing on the actual nomination. Mr. Willkie, himself, has explained that in order to be in the running at the convention he needed to show strength in the midwest. When he didn't show strength, he knew he was out of the running, something many Republicans had realized long ago.

The real contest lies, as it did before, between Gov. Bricker of Ohio and Gov. Dewey of New York, with former Gov. Stassen of Minnesota, Gen. MacArthur and several other possibilities entered at long odds.

Since Gov. Dewey and Mr. Willkie had shown predominant strength in public opinion polls, some conclusion jumpers are claiming that with Mr. Willkie out, Gov. Dewey, therefore, must be in. Public opinion polls are not nominating conventions, however. And the people who participate in them are not necessarily delegates. As far as the actual race for the nomination is concerned, Gov. Dewey is still doing his running in the paddock.

Gov. Bricker, on the other hand, has been letting the country get acquainted with him. He has done this believing the people have a right to know what a man aspiring to a presidential nomination stands for. He has stated his views on a wide variety of subjects and has answered questions freely. He will continue to do this until his party has made its decision on its presidential nominee next June. If nominated, he will follow the same procedure during his campaign. If someone else is nominated, he can be depended on to do his level best to help them follow it.

Gov. Bricker and Mr. Willkie have been setting the pace for the pre-convention race. Mr. Willkie now has dropped out. Gov. Bricker would welcome Gov. Dewey's active participation on the same candid basis from now till next June.

Down by the Old Mill Stream

ACCORDING to early reports, the geese that lay golden eggs for the internal revenue department may be forced into an involuntary moulting season by the new 30 per cent cabaret tax levied on enterprises offering dancing and entertainment. The effect of the tax on small places is being studied closely, but some operators already have jumped to the conclusion it is too prohibitive to bear. Cafe entertainers are anticipating a serious slump in employment. Some night spots appealing to limited pocketbooks will be forced out of business, it is predicted gloomily. If the customers can't lift their voices in song, they will stay home and sing in the kitchen.

The net effect of the tax, instead of being an increase in revenue, probably will be a decrease, which raises the question of congressional intent. If the tax closes an appreciable number of the places on which it is levied and hurts the business of the places remaining open, it might satisfy those who object to the more overt types of amusement in war, but that would give taxmakers no satisfaction. The revenue they were looking for "Down By The Old Mill Stream" was more important than the behavior of patriots who lift their voices in song and perform the Jersey Bounce on their night out.

There will no doubt be hard times in the future, but we are on the offensive now, not the defensive. Soon or late, the end is in sight. —Air Force Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault.

Today and Tomorrow

Whether Roosevelt Will Run Again Called Difficult Decision, for Him and Public.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IT MUST be assumed that Mr. Roosevelt has not yet finally made up his mind whether he will be a candidate for a fourth term. There is, to be sure, no other Democratic candidate now in the running. But given the unique situation this year, no other Democratic candidate can present himself before the Republican party has made its nomination and adopted its platform. Mr. Roosevelt is bound to retain his option, whether or not he decides in the end to exercise it.

The country has the right to assume that his mind is still open. For if it were not open, if regardless of what was the state of the war and the political outlook at home, he were irrevocably seeking a fourth term, he would be open to the charge of clinging to power for the sake of power. That is an accusation that no one who appreciates his service to the country will lightly make.

This difficult decision is so momentous that it is in no sense a personal and private one. It is a public matter which can and should be discussed publicly.

Big Risks

It is evident that in reaching his decision the burden of proof is on those who ask him to run again. Not only is it an abnormal thing to do, it is also obviously an exceedingly dangerous thing to do. There is the real risk that no human being can have the physical strength to endure the strain of being president for 16 years like these. There is the grave risk of being defeated, and in defeat to discredit the war and the promised peace. There is the certain risk of an embittered campaign which would leave the country disunited, and would almost certainly bring about as its aftermath a prolonged destructive deadlock of government during the fourth term.

The only ground on which Mr. Roosevelt could possibly justify taking these risks would be that the Republican party, when it came to power, would fail to prosecute the war vigorously and would shirk the responsibilities of the peace. In considering whether this could happen, Mr. Roosevelt would not be dealing fairly and squarely with the issue if he assumed as a matter of course that the Republicans cannot be trusted. A true consideration of the issue will cause him to do what both Lincoln and Wilson did before him, to approach it by asking himself what he could do to facilitate a transfer of responsibility and to make it as certain as can be that his successor will not fail.

Party Interests

Only then, only if there is no alternative to his seeking a fourth term, no feasible way of changing the presidency without endangering the national cause, would he be warranted in letting himself be nominated again.

He will, of course, be under heavy pressure from his fellow Democrats who will feel that his refusal to run is the equivalent of conceding the election to the Republicans. He will be urged to run to save the party to which he owes so much.

Yet, in fact, if one considers the Democratic party and its best interests in the long run, there is a compelling argument in favor of its not remaining in power. It is that its mandate has run out, its time is up, and that to overstay its time is to invite a catastrophic defeat at the next election.

For the party, as a historic party in American life, the long future will be far brighter if it retires from office before it is angrily driven from office. It can retire now with a record of accomplishments which, when all has been said that can be said against them, will remain. It can retire having organized the country successfully and even brilliantly, to withstand the greatest peril that ever threatened it.

Influence Would Continue

If the party retires now, when it might continue in office, it will be a coherent opposition capable of returning to power if the Republicans do not govern successfully. If it continues in office, until it is overwhelmingly defeated it might be a generation before the party recovered.

Assuming that the new administration is manned by the young, vigorous and competent men who

Propaganda Battle in America

Effort on To Influence Peace Parley Toward Germany.

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press World

THE United States is the battlefield for a full-scale propaganda war concerning the shape of the peace to follow World war II.

American public opinion soon will feel the impact of a startling pamphlet called "Know Your Enemies," issued by the Society for Prevention of the Third World War. It is only one of several signs of what is coming.

In both the United States and England, the battle of ideas is waged over the issue between a "hard" and "soft" peace.

A "hard peace" would make the "unconditional surrender" formula enunciated at Casablanca by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill the official United Nations policy.

"Soft peace" theorists claim there are plenty of democratic Germans who should be permitted to take over their government the minute the United Nations have won victory.

The "hard peace" crowd is led by the Society for Prevention of the Third World War, headed by the American author, Rex Stout, who is also chairman of the writers war board. It has enlisted the aid of several European reseachers, among them Dr. Friedrich Foerster, a German scholar thrown into jail in 1895 for opposing the kaiser's plans for the first World war.

The "soft peace" movement is led by the "American Friends of German Freedom," headed by Paul Hagen, German author who also uses the name Carl Frank.

This group, organized in 1936, includes Thomas Mann, a German, Louis Adamic, and Dr. Reinhold Neibuhr. It has issued a pamplet—"Germany Tomorrow."

The Friends of German Freedom argue in their pamplet that Germany must not be condemned for waging war, because the Swedes did the same thing 300 years ago, the French did it, and so did the British.

THE "soft peace" spokesmen argue for Europe a reconstruction program which will include all of Europe, because "the Nazi economic war machine is a highly centralized appartus, coordinating all productive power." They say "neither feeding, nor housing, nor management of production can be assured without continent-wide administration."

This continent-wide-reconstruction-of-Europe idea was repudiated at the United Nations relief conference at Atlantic City last November, which voted to spend no relief money in Germany.

The Friends of German Freedom refer to "Nazis" when talking of the war, to "Germans" when they propose measures for German reconstruction.

The Society for Prevention of the third World War voices alarm that the United States is being subjected to a propaganda campaign intended to circumvent the "unconditional surrender" policy. It believes any such course would lead inevitably to a third war.

Rex Stout says "Pan-Germanism" is a phrase America must learn in order to evaluate German propaganda.

He says: "There are two German beliefs. First is that Germans are a master race, and second, that they must conquer the world. These beliefs are more than a century old. They are not peculiar to the Nazis. They are 'Pan-Germanism.' Therefore, it actually means little when a German exile deplores the Nazis. He must be examined farther to see if he also deplores Pan-Germanism. It's only natural that German exiles now should be anti-Nazi. Why not? The Nazis have so bungled this war that Pan-Germanism has been set back 20 to 30 years, or to whenever the German general staff intends to wage the Third World war."

HERE are samples of the German thinking, as quoted in the pamphlet of Society For Prevention of the Third World War:

Ernst Arndt, German poet, 130 years ago: "Kill—the world tribunal will not ask you for the reason."

Gen. von Haesler, 1893: "It is necessary that our civilization build its temple on mountains of corpses."

O. R. Tannenberg, author, 1911: "War must leave nothing to the vanquished but their eyes to weep with."

"Die post," Berlin, Jan. 28, 1912: "Whom do the Germans adore with their hearts? Goethe, Schiller, Wagner, Marx? No. They are Barbarossa, Frederick the Great, Bluecher, Moltke, Bismarck —they who sacrificed thousands of lives."

W. Schwaner, "Volkserzieher," 1916, pg. 16: "We Germans have always been a nation of masters, not a nation of shop-keepers and pirates like the British and Americans."

"Volksericher," 1915, pg. 617 (a publication for teachers): "People must learn that he who cannot be a German is a pariah."

Matthias Erzberger, reichstag leader of the Catholic Center party, in "Tag," Nov. 30, 1915: "If one is in a position to destroy the entire city of London it is more humane to do it than to allow a single German comrade to shed his blood."

Prof. Ernest Haase, University of Leipzig, 1905: "Who in the future is to do the dirty work? The solution consists in condemning alien European stock to slave occupations."

Border News Messenger, May 5, 1898: "We must remember there are three million German aliens in the United States who have no interest in the welfare of that country."

THE SOCIETY for Prevention of the Third World War is engaged in several projects to circumvent any hidden German propaganda which may be aimed at circumventing the announced United Nations policy of unconditional surrender.

1. It is making a list of all German exile professors teaching in American schools.

2. It is making a file of books, magazines, and papers which carry "Pan German" expressions, like the argument that "we must feed Germans first because the other nations already are on our side."

3. It is making dossiers on some 700 Germans most likely to be proposed as leaders of a new government after the war, so Americans can be informed immediately of the background of the men finally proposed.

It is warning all and sundry by mail against all variations they find of the two arguments, now current, which they believe "Pan-German." They are:

1. That unconditional surrender is too harsh.

2. That there are "two Germanies," the good and bad, and we must put our faith in the good Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Rivera L. Curren of Davids street entertained at a dinner honoring six members of the family whose birthday anniversaries came in April.

A family dinner marked the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hurr of Windsor street.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Haley of the Edison road were given a surprise dinner in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Miss Nadine Ballantyne and Paul Marshall, both of Marion, were united in marriage at Trinity Baptist parsonage by Rev. L. A. Wood.

Dr. E. H. Raffensperger, veteran Marion dentist and official weather observer, celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday anniversary.

A program preceded by a dinner in the church dining room marked the twenty-sixth anniversary of the founding of the Rayl class of Trinity Baptist church. Mrs. E. O. Uncapher was chairman of the arrangements committee.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, April 8, 1924.

Arthur Brisbane, widely read columnist, wrote an article published in The Star praising Australia, "pioneers of the white race living in the shadow of Asia," and praised that country's firm stand against immigration, declaring that "Japan, long before this century ends, could swallow up Australia with its handful of Australians in a flood of brown population.....And Japan, constantly protesting and arguing about the rights of the United States to regulate American territories, utters no protest whatever against Australian exclusion, for Japan knows it would do no good..... Australians are as near to us in time and as important to us in fact as were our own pioneers of old days, west of the Alleghenies, then west of the Mississippi, holding land against Indians and wolves for great white tribes that were to come after them."

Frank Wiedemann, Marion attorney, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for prosecuting attorney.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Frank of Blaine avenue.

Harry Brookshire, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Brookshire of Olney avenue, returned to Oxford, where he was attending Miami university.

Mrs. E. M. Conarty and children of South Prospect street returned from Rochester, Ind., where they had been visiting friends.

Robert Sifritt, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Sifritt of Delaware avenue, resumed studies at Ohio Wesleyan university following a visit here.

Nazi Post-War Plans

German Press Gives Attention to Educational Program.

By WADE WERNER

POSSIBLY inspired by the large volume of discussion and speculation in the United States and Britain concerning post-war "reduction of the German people," German newspapers lately are devoting much space to reports of various educational projects and preparation of Nazi youth for the future.

One of the most interesting angles of this trend is the emphasis on training for post-war export and colonial trade. The Berlin Boersenzeitung reports that an officially recognized school for the foreign trade opened a year ago at Bremen, and plans for the establishment of a series of such schools have been completed. The newspaper described the curriculum as based on the principal that the graduates must be ready for actual assignments.

Thus the curriculum includes not only languages in worldwide use, such as English and French, but also the native tongues of various colonial areas. The course includes "games and sports of foreign lands" to enable the graduate to understand the mentality of potential purchasers.

Also in the curriculum are courses in the social customs and etiquette of "overseas peoples." This is backed up by a "thorough grounding" in German history and traditions with the idea of fitting the young trader intelligently to represent Germany abroad while adapting himself smoothly to the foreign atmosphere. In this connection there also is training in public speaking.

Other items in the curriculum include "shorthand, typewriting, photography, horseback riding, shooting, automobile driving and first aid."

LENGTHY editorials in various German papers deal with the general subject of secondary schools—what subjects should be taught after the war, whether Latin should be continued as a basic cultural subject, the place of physical training in education, etc.

Reports on currently functioning projects with a post-war angle includes news of various schools for blinded soldiers and other disabled and handicapped veterans. For instance, there is an 18-month preparatory course for the youthful blind desiring to enter universities. Much also is printed on "front universities" where soldiers in quiet areas may continue their studies.

The Hamburg Fremdenblatt calls attention to the three-fold increase in women university students since the end of the First World war and stresses that 45 per cent of these are studying medicine. The future musical generation also is occupying the attention of German authorities and the press. The experimental establishment of secondary schools for musically gifted pupils is said to have been "a success." More will be founded with the idea of encouraging the development of youthful talent simultaneously with the completion of their regular studies.

THIS emphasis on education with post-war implications may have a propaganda motive to encourage Germans to believe their post-war life will be normal, with at least the normal chances of young Germans building careers — particularly those who will return still young but blind or crippled from the war.

Curiously, there is no discussion whatever so far of the possibility of "re-educating" enemy peoples after the war. It is difficult to say whether this is due to the fact the Germans have lost any hope of winning the war, or due to the practical consideration that it is easier to kill a man with one blow on the head than re-educate him with several thousand and perhaps millions of skillful impressions on the brain over a period of years.

O'Bannon and Mac

("The President has given a citation to the destroyer O'Bannon for outstanding performances in the Pacific. Its skipper, Commande Donald J. MacDonald, is the most decorated officer in the navy as a result of the ship' sensational exploits"—News item)

O'Bannon, oh baby, oh boy, what a ship!
In any engagement, oh man, she's a pip!
MacDonald's her skipper; Oh my, what a pair!
A tough "daily double" for Japs anywhere.

II

O'Bannon, she's little and not very wide,
O'Bannon, she's smallish but what a tough hide!
Beside the big "wagons" she seems like a tug,
But, oh boy, O'Bannon she knows now to slug!

III

Throughout the Pacific O'Bannon she's known;
Just mention O'Bannon and Tojo will groan;
MacDonald-O'Bannon . . . Oh, gee, what a team
For teachin' the Japs war ain't peaches and cream!

IV

She sinks Japs for breakfast and two more for lunch
Oh, "Mac" and O'Bannon are there with the punch:
They come back at dinner-time, waving
  the shirt—
And knock out another Jap fleet for dessert.

V

July or October, December or May,
O'Bannon and Mac will be found in the play;
They don't make their matches and don't pick their spot;
They make their own weather, and make it quite hot!

VI

Her skipper MacDonald has medals galore;
  Upon his broad chest there was room
  for no more;
There had to be medals for new deeds
  each trip
So now they are pinning 'em right on the ship.

VII

O'Bannon - MacDonald . . . their names
  ring afar;
Wherever there's fighting, well, that's where they are;
This prayer from Tokio rolls o'er the seas;
"Keep O'B and Mac far away from us, PLEASE!"

Mama will take the car to the gas station an get some gas put in it, and while she is the she will get a new blade for the windshie wiper and have the man put some water in th battery.

While she is at it, she may just as well ta Junior downtown to see if she can locate a pa of new shoes for him, and he also is in th market for some Boy Scout equipment.

It would be convenient, moreover, if whi she is on the go she would take papa's oth suit to the dry cleaner's and stop by the sto to pick up a sack of Victory Garden fertilize

There also is the frame of the tricycle to welded, and it would just take a little whi longer to nip by the welding shop and se what can be done about that. And while she in that neighborhood, if she would stop at th paint store and buy a quart of enamel, pap could get busy on that painting project.

Come to think about it, when she is at th paint store she could make a razoo across th street and pick up the onion sets for the gard and these could be planted, and as long as sh is going to be in the seed store anyway sh might as well buy a little list of seeds that w be needed soon.

Then if she would just step up the street o block, she could buy a pair of new suspende which would save papa some steps. There al is that business of getting the lawn mower fix up, which could be taken care of in a jiffy she would just put it in the back of the c and drop it off at the lawn mower place.

And whenever she thinks about it, she mig pick up a bottle of black ink someplace an stop by the drug store to pay for that pr scription which was filled week before la when papa didn't have the wherewithal handle the situation.

All this can be done, of course, in additio to buying the groceries, keeping a weather e peeled for bargains in clothing for the famil paying off the paper boy, the magazine su scription man and making sure all househo bills are paid on time.

It can be done, also, in addition to laying enough purchasing power so whenever an other member of the family wants somethin on special order in a hurry mama can rea into the sugar bowl and whip out the necessa wherewithal on an instant's notice.

But just to make sure that everything is right, here are two nice one-dollar bills f mama to work with, and they no doubt wil more than enough because the purchasing ag is supposed to provide what is needed with questions asked.

One of State's Oldest twenty-seventh council to ituted in Ohio, Marion is the oldest and most active roximately 130 in the state. M. B. McCarthy of Toledo, master of degree work, and a team from that city, instituted the council on May 25, 1902.

The first officers of the council were Martin J. Burke, grand knight, John A. Schroeter, deputy grand knight, Patrick Kelly chancelor, Michael C. O'Brien, recording secretary, Frank A. Huber, financial secretary, F. A. Schroeter, treasurer, A. C. Edmondson, lecturer, Dr. Robert Ramroth, advocate, Edward J. Masterson, warden, Leo Stuber, inside guard, William P. Hayden, outside guard, Henry J. Schuler, Michael Lawrence and James F. Prendergast, board of trustees and Rev. Father M. J. Mulvahill, chaplain.

Others who have served as grand knights are: Michael C. O'Brien, William P. Kelly, William P. Moloney, C. B. Drake of Cincinnati, Edmond J. Molloy, William E. Lawler, J. J. Sweeney, L. A. Axe, C. U. Graf of Mansfield, Carl F. Werley, J. W. Artz of Lima, A. L. Bintz, Robert Caulfield, Clarence E. Silva, T. J. Frericks of Wellston, Raymond P. Murphy, Dr. W. A. Dennis, Henry P. Drake, Paul Malloy, Capt. James J. Divney, Thomas E. Andrews, William Fabian, Nelson G. Irvin and William H. Simmons.

Records show that many of the officers have served more than one term. Mr. O'Brien, the present treasurer, has served as an officer of the council in some capacity soince its organization 42 years ago.

Broad Scope of Activities

The work of the Marion council has not been confined to the welfare of its own members but has extended to civic affairs of the community and fraternally the members have been active in district, state and national affairs.

In May of 1911 the council absorbed the Catholic Athletic club, a social group made up of young Catholic men. In 1903 a class of 61 candidates was admitted, one of the largest classes in the history of the council. The roster includes the membership of Monsignor Joseph M. Denning, former pastor of St. Mary church and consul to Morocco under President Warren G. Harding, Rev Father William J. Spickerman, pastor of St. Mary church and Rev. Father Francis Lay, assistant pastor.

Prior to the war the council members included a number of social affairs in their activities. In 1939 the members were hosts for the state bowling tournament and the following year entertained delegates and visitors to the forty-first annual state convention.

58 Stars in Service Flag

The local council participates in programs supporting Catholic Action through speakers, and the indorsement of activities outlined by state and national councils, and during the third War Bond drive totaled sales in the amount of $500,000. Stars in the council's service flag number 58. The council maintains a steady increase in members through the initiation of classes from time to time and now has a roster of 250 members. Three of the classes honored Rev. Father Spickerman. Rev. Lay became a knight after coming to Marion as assistant pastor.

Thomas E. Andrews, a past grand knight, is now serving as treasurer of the state council. In 1933 L. A. Axe was one of the representatives of the Ohio council at the supreme council convention in Chicago and two years later Henry P. Drake in the same capacity when the supreme council met in New York City. Mr. Axe also is a past district deputy.

Representing the council at the state convention to be held at Columbus May 13, 14 and 15 will be Joseph M. Dunn and William Simmons, delegates, and William Brown and Floyd Cornely, alternates.

have risen in our public life since the distant days when all young men were New Dealers, Mr. Roosevelt may well by retiring voluntarily exercise greater influence than by remaining in office for the things he cares most about.

In voluntary retirement his prestige would be enormous. The guns of his enemies would be spiked. The vexatious details of administering affairs, which only younger men can really deal with happily, would cease to drain away the energies which could be applied to counseling and leading the nation. Jefferson was a great president. But Jefferson took as great a part in shaping the things that in the long run mattered to the nation as he did when he was in the White House.

No one, not even those who would oppose Mr. Roosevelt if he ran again, can wish that he should decline the nomination until and unless the Republicans show that they have measured their responsibility and have done all that is possible to be equal to it. Mr. Roosevelt owes it to the country to remain in the running if the Republicans make a hash of their opportunity.

But if they rise to the occasion, as they well may, then it would be a tragic misfortune for Mr. Roosevelt to commit the country to an embittered and essentially unnecessary political conflict at a time like this.

WAF Reports Buying Stiffens Egg Prices

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 8—The war food administration, which has been trying to put a floor under egg prices, reported today that its buying program has stiffened egg prices throughout the middle west the last few days.

F. O. Pollock, WFA district administrator, said reports from WFA field men show that eggs were up 2 to 4 cents a dozen in Michigan, most prices ranging from 18 to 29 cents, with a few farmers getting the 30-cent minimum which the WFA wants to establish.

Other prices reported by the WFA included: Ohio 17 to 30, with an average of 25.

The WFA, which has been buying dried eggs and shell eggs in large quantities, disclosed that it is taking steps to contract for even frozen eggs.

Resume Tire Production at Seiberling Plant

By The Associated Press

BARBERTIN, O., April 8 — Production of heavy military-type truck tires was resumed today at the Seiberling Rubber Co. plant after a one-day work stoppage which caused an estimated loss of 500 tires.

Company officials said 20 of the 31 men on the 6 a. m. shift reported for work this morning. Normal production was expected to get underway on the 2 p. m. shift. The employees are members of the CIO United Rubber Workers.

The regional war labor board had urged the men to "resume full production at once."

If chickens scratch litter against the stove, try this safely idea from Successfull Farming magazine: Set the brooder stove on bricks and put a rim cut from an old barrel around it. Fill the inside of the rim with mud or earth.

Army Flies Sergeant to Bedside of Wife

By The Associated Press

WOOSTER, O., April 8—Technical Sergt. Paul Waggamon was flown to nearby Easton by the army from an American air force base in India so he could be at the bedside of his 22-year-old wife, Marjorie, who is critically ill.

"There's lots of good in a country whose army will take the trouble to bring one of its soldiers half way around the world to be with his wife during her last few days on earth," the 27-year-old sergeant remarked.

Lecture-Recital Activities Planned at Board Meeting

A REPORT on "Music in Industry" was made by Mrs. Richard Jennings Thursday, at a board meeting of the Lecture Recital club at Hotel Marion. Detailed plans for a number of previously announced events were discussed.

Mrs. Griselda Davis Dombaugh announced that a junior radio program had been set for May 7, at 2:30 p. m. A report from the juvenile club announced that $6,200 worth of war bonds had been sold.

Mrs. Jennings was appointed to serve on a committee for Fine Arts Day May 3. Mrs. O. D. Anderson and Mrs. Harry T. Williams will present a piano duo as part of the program for this event.

Plans for a federation day next year were outlined by Mrs. J. C. Woods. Mrs. Leroy Schneider reported on the response to requests for music for Fletcher Hospital.

The next board meeting will be the second week in May at the home of Mrs. W. S. Sibberson of Girard avenue. Members of this year's and next year's board will be present.

RED WRITERS NOW EXPRESS OWN VIEWS

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, April 8—The Russian press no longer is restricted to publication of articles and news reflecting the official attitude of the Soviet government.

Editors and writers are now permitted to express their own point of view, it was learned yesterday.

One example was the newspaper Pravda's "separate peace" story. The attack on Pope Pius and the Vatican was another, and a third was the recent blast against Wendell Willkie.

Allied representatives here have pointed out that American and British readers have accepted everything they read from Isvestia, Pravda and Red Star as official expressions of the Kremlin.

At least one Soviet official said Russian writers are expressing what they themselves think and that the Kremlin is too busy winning the war to survey every item published in the press.

Mrs. Madge Mumaw Of Galion Taken by Death

Special to The Star

GALION, April 8—Mrs. Madge G. Mumaw of Galion died at 6:55 last night at Mansfield General hospital. She had been ill three weeks. Mrs. Mumaw was born in Marion county to Charles and Stella Lowe Anderson. On July 1, 1892, she was married to Elza Mumaw. She was employed at the Ohio Overcoat Co. in Galion for 18 years.

Mrs. Mumaw is survived by two children of a former marriage, Clarence E. Barnes of the U. S. Army and Mrs. Edward P. Mason of Cleveland. She is also survived by five brothers, Walter Anderson of California, Earl and Virgil Anderson of Ashland, Paul Anderson of the Panama Canal Zone, Gerald Anderson of Cleveland and four sisters, Mrs. J. Call and Mrs. James Harper of Norwalk, Mrs. Myrtle Macs and Mrs. Ed Johnson of Cleveland.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2 at the Volk Funeral home in Galion. Rev. Andrew Young will officiate. Burial will be made in Fairview cemetery at Galion.

Chief of Staff Of 37th Has Imposing Educational Record

(This is one of a series of sketches of members of the general staff of Ohio's 37th division. Distributed by The Associated Press.)

WITH THE 37th DIVISION IN BOUGAINVILLE — When Col. Arthur R. Walk, 48-year-old likeable chief-of-staff of the 37th division, was interviewed for this series the writer wormed out of him an imposing record of higher educational institutions attended.

This resident of Chambersburg, Pa., grinned sheepishly and said "don't put all that in, people will think I'm just a school boy."

But in chronological order here is a brief sketch of the history of this quiet-spoken officer who joined the 37th division April 6, 1943, just before the beginning of the New Georgia campaign.

After graduation by Lafayette college with the degree of bachelor of philosophy in 1918 he entered the regular army and served in France with the Third division as platoon, company and battalion commander, the latter command coming to him at the age of 23-years. He participated in the following actions: Aisne defensive, Champagne-Marne defensive, Aisne-Marne offensive, St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne, Chateau Thierry defensive and was awarded the silver star with oak leaf cluster.

Service with the army of occupation in Germany was followed by a course at Oxford university, England, where he met and married Elsie Roberts.

Returning to the states he enrolled at Leland Stanford university for a course in far eastern policy and diplomatic relations. Following completion of this course he finished work at the University of Minnesota for his masters' degree in history. He took a special one-year engineering course at Princeton university, and from 1931 to 1933 was a student in the command and general staff school, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. In 1939 he was graduated by the army war college, Washington, D. C.

For three years he was an instructor in the command and general staff school and for four years taught at the infantry school, Ft. Benning, Ga. Before coming to the 37th division Colonel Walk was a regimental combat team commander in the 92nd division.

He is the father of three children.

600 at Good Friday Service

Gues. Speaker and Six Marion County Ministers Give Talks on Words Spoken at Cross.

Approximately 600 persons attended during the afternoon the Union Good Friday service held in [illegible] Evangelical church from noon to 3 p m yesterday commemorating the hours Christ hung on the cross The theme of the sermons was "What Others Said at the Cross" and seven phases of the subject were interpreted from Scripture by ministers with singing of hymns interspersed. Mrs [illegible] Baker presided at the organ, Rev. Garrison Roebuck presided, Rev. Eldred Johnston offered prayer and Rev. E. H Wierth read Scripture.

Rev. Roebuck, president of the Marion County Ministerial association which sponsored the Good Friday service and the noon-day Lenten week services held in downtown Marion at the Marion theater this week, declared regarding the attendance at the services, "In view of the inclement weather we feel we have reason to be pleased with attendance at and response to these services."

Speakers were Dr. R. H. Miller of North Manchester, Ind, who was guest speaker also for the Lenten week services, Rev. John A. Carriker; Rev. J. H. Canada; Rev. [illegible] C Zimmerman; Rev. R. W. Faulkner, Rev. Warren H. Bright of LaRue, Dr Warren P. Behan. The committee arranging the services was Rev. H. C. Ahrens, Rev O D. Myers and Rev. T. A. Ballinger.

"The simplest and most significant title ever given was the one given Christ by Pilate, 'The Man.' When Jesus came he gave corrupt society such a jolt that everyone knew he was 'the man.' Persecutors are discovering once again that the church is being purged and becoming stronger because of persecution," Dr. Miller said.

"The seamless robe of Jesus for which the soldiers cast lots is symbolic of the pure, sinless life of Jesus which is imputed by faith unto all who receive Him as their savior and forsake sin. Who crucified Christ? All. It was the black sin of their hearts then and of ours today that nailed Him to the cross,' was Rev. Carriker's message.

"Thou that destroyest the temple '—Jesus never did anything destructive. Referring to the temple of his body' he has made known 'our bodies are the temples of God,' a shelter house of the soul 'Save thyself' was not his purpose in coming to this world but to save us and forgive us our sins," Rev. Canada emphasized.

Rev Zimmerman told the audience, "The lost world is divided into two groups as indicated by the thieves on the crosses beside Jesus. The host which have no use for Christ and Calvary cannot be saved, the second group can be saved and it is up to us to help Christ save them."

"Those who accused Jesus lived for self and lost life," Rev. R. W Faulkner declared "In the eyes of men Jesus was a failure, but, saving others, he found life in his ministry Life comes to us as we give it If you want to find life liveable, take up the cross and follow Him, live for others."

'The Centurian, a hardened campaigner, saw in Christ a man who was not ashamed to die Self-sacrificing suffering for faith in Christ is needed to save the world today," was the theme of Rev. Bright.

In conclusion Dr. Behan stated "God seemed silent during the crucifixion but he spoke to Jesus, indicated by his prayer, 'Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit' God spoke in nature to express his wrath God spoke in the rending of the veil of the temple It proved that Christ is the mediator between God and man The greatest discovery is 'God is love' This was revealed on that first Good Friday and expressed again on this Good Friday through the three-hour service."

CIO LEADER PROPOSES TO DRAFT ROOSEVELT

Hillman Urges Move in Speech Today.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 8—Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, today urged initiation of a "draft Roosevelt" movement, asserting that "there is no other man in public life to whom we can safely turn over the helm."

In a speech for delivery before the American Labor party's New York state committee meeting, Hillman said "the eclipse of Willkie in Wisconsin serves to dispel any last lingering illusion that control of the Republican party can be wrested from the grip of reaction."

"The identity of the man who will be named to head the Republican ticket may still be a subject for speculation," said Hillman, "but the character of the forces which will name him, dictate his policies and shape his program, now stands fully revealed. . . .

Hillman said he did not know whether President Roosevelt planned to seek a fourth term, but that "I believe that the President, like every other citizen, will respond to such a call to duty"

ADOPT SAME STYLE OF FOREIGN NAMES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 8 — A uniform style for foreign place names was adopted by the three American news services today to make it easier for the public to follow the story of the war.

In an effort to end possible confusion over places appearing in the war news under more than one name The Associated Press, the United Press and International News Service adopted in general the style of the National Geographic society, but made certain exceptions to conform with American usage

The National Geographic Society style basically followed is that of the name in use in the various foreign countries themselves

Out of the 40,000 names listed by the National Geographic society, the three news services made 78 exceptions in the cases of places figuring prominently in western culture, history or tradition under an Anglicized form

These exceptions include Rome instead of Rome, Moscow instead of Moskva. Athens instead of Athenai, Limerick instead of Luimneach, Euphrates river instead of Frat river etc.

Among the National Geographic usages adopted are Romania instead of Rumania, Yugoslavia instead of Jugoslavia, Manchuria instead of Manchukuo, and Dnepr and Dnestr rivers instead of Dnieper and Dniester.

Court-Martial of Three Officers Suspends Today

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 8—Military officials conducting the court martial of three AAF officers charged with neglect of duty and conspiracy, suspended hearings today to visit the sprawling Wright Aeronautical Corp plant in nearby Lockland, O., where, the government charges, the three accused permitted aircraft engine inspection malpractices

The 11-member tribunal explained the visit was to acquaint themselves with background to better understand technicalities which have been recurrent in testimony.

The accused officers were Lt Col. Frank Gruelich of Detroit, former chief inspector for the AAF materiel command; Maj Walter Ryan, former inspection officer for the 14-state central district at Detroit, and Maj William Bruckmann of Cincinnati.

Hitler's Scarcity of Oil Among Worst Handicaps

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Many things are contributing to Hitler's certain defeat, but the scarcity of petroleum—lifeblood of war—ranks high among the causes of a downfall which may be more terrible than that experienced by any other bloody-minded conqueror of history.

In yesterday's column I suggested that this fatal weakness in the Nazi gangsters defense was likely to show up strikingly in the forthcoming invasion of western Europe. That final great clash at arms will strain the resources of both sides to the limit, and it will find the fuehrer sadly lacking in the wherewithal to stand off disaster. As Lt General Omar Bradley, commander of American ground forces in Britain, remarked yesterday to Yankee officers preparing for the invasion:

"We have the best soldiers and best equipment and more of it than the Germans ever dreamed of"

Position Grows Worse

That's the position now, and it's becoming increasingly difficult for the Nazis with each passing day, especially in the matter of that all-important petroleum. Not only are allied bombers raking Hitler's oil sources but if you will look at your maps you will see that the paramount sectors on the southern Russian front are in oil regions They are Ploesti in Rumania and Galicia in southeastern Poland.

Now don't misunderstand the situation Both those zones are strategic gateways into enemy-held territory, quite apart from their oil-producing value. Moreover, Galicia's production of petroleum is small compared with Rumania's output. Still, so great is Hitler's need of oil that both these fields are priceless to him. Veritas, British official war commentator, pins the thing down like this:

"The German war machine cannot do without Rumanian and Galician oil."

Thus Hitler has a double reason for defending both these theaters—for their military value and for their oil. You can gauge the extent of his anxiety by the fierceness of his resistance in the Tarnapol sector of Poland where one of the bloodiest combats of the war is being waged. Also, unless signs fail, we are on the verge of another Titantic struggle along the Jassy front which shields the Ploesti oil field from the Red forces thrusting down from the north.

Odessa Force Threatened

Upon the Hitlerite success in holding this Rumanian front also largely depends the fate of the badly mauled Nazi army of the Odessa sector. Should the Russians make a quick break through into the Danubian basin the doom of the Germans at Odessa will be sealed.

While this great battle of Rumania is boiling up, our Yankee bombers are pouring high explosives into the Ploesti oil field. Thus it may easily be that the wells of Ploesti will lie in ruins long before the struggle of land forces in that theater has been decided.

Meantime the invasion of western Europe is drawing near. If Hitler loses his Rumanian oil now —not to mention Galicia's small contribution it will be a catastrophe for him.

STABILIZATION VIEWS DIFFER

Democrats Cheer Report. But Republicans Charge Some Serious Fumbles.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 8—Administration claims to have "held the line" against inflation for the past year drew cheers from senate Democrats today but Republican scorekeepers charged serious fumbles on wage controls and price subsidies.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky, termed "optimism that is justified," a report by heads of the offices of economic stabilization, price administration, war food administration and the war labor board which said prices and wages have been kept stable since President Roosevelt's hold-the-line order was issued a year ago today.

Sees Self Praise

With less enthusiasm, acting Republican Leader White of Maine commented that the four officials "recommended themselves and their work pretty highly."

While there was general agreement that the stabilization act would be extended for another year, Senator Butler (R-Neb) renewed demands for abolition of consumer food price subsidies.

Also, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said there is a steady increase in the cost of labor and uncontrolled raw materials which "is driving many small business men out of business and bringing about black markets"

Taft argued that the assertion that actions of the war labor board had raised the level of basic factory wage rates less than 1½ cents an hour did not tell the whole story. He said pay actually taken home by workers and hourly wage rates both have increased over 5 per cent in 12 months.

Proposes Change

Butler declared the act "might work better during the next year if a prohibition were adopted eliminating consumer subsidies," adding "I'm sure the people would rather pay a little more for food now, than have to pay it later in taxes for subsidies"

Senator White said he believes price control must be continued, but he hopes "the banking committee can suggest to us amendments and procedure less annoying and less burdensome and at the same time more effective"

Senator Danaher (D-Conn), a member of the committee, said the joint letter of the stabilization chiefs "clearly is at odds with the views expressed" by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor and Philip Murray, head of the CIO.

Barkley mentioned that there was a general but informal agreement in the committee that penalty provisions of the price act should be changed to give the federal courts more leeway in fixing penalties.

"NOSE" BACKFIRES

By The United Press

LAWRENCE, Kan.—George Rinehart, journalism professor at the University of Kansas here, has proof that he "practices what he preaches" about a "news man's curiosity" and a "nose for news," but after a certain experience recently the professor probably is willing to admit that such things can be carried a bit too far. Returning to classes after lunch, Prof. Rinehart saw a crowd in front of a house, and he hurriedly went over to investigate. He noticed the attraction was an auction sale, so he started to go on by, but mumbled a "50 cents" bid on a walnut table the auctioneer had just offered The auctioneer immediately declared the article "sold" and insisted that the professor take the table with him.

Ohio Pilot Breaks Rickenbacker Record

CAPT. DON GENTILE

A U. S FIGHTER BASE IN ENGLAND, April 8—Capt. Don S Gentile, 23-year-old Mustang pilot from Piqua O, has claimed the destruction of 27 enemy planes one more than the total destroyed by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker in World war one.

At least eight of the planes claimed by Gentile were destroyed on the ground, however, while Rickenbacker downed all of his in air combat, a record two Marine fliers have equalled in this war.

A public relations officer of the Eighth fighter command said the practice of crediting pilots with many days the Germans did not come up to fight and the Americans went after their airdromes.

American pilots say it is harder to get enemy planes on the ground than in the air because of the hail of gunfire met in diving down and sweeping over a German airfield

Gentile, with a total of 22, already was tied for first place in planes destroyed on the ground developed in this theater when on this theater before he claimed five planes destroyed on the ground during a sweep over Berlin Wednesday.

Gentile, of Italian extraction, waited on tables in his father's night club, the Genoa club, at Piqua while in school and also worked part time at the Jackson steel mill in Piqua.

"I have no thought of resigning," he told a newsman.

U. S., BRITAIN ACT ON POST-WAR FLYING

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 8—Adolf A. Berle Jr., assistant U. S. secretary of state, said today the British-American civil aviation conference had reached a preliminary agreement on the principle that all nations should allow other countries access to enough airfields to maintain communications.

A further accord was reached on the principle that competition should not be used to "bedevil" another nation, Berle said in a joint press conference with Lord Beaverbrook, British lord privy seal.

Beaverbrook, who is in charge of Britain's civilian aviation program, said little beyond the statement that "most admirable results' had been achieved.

Berle quickly injected that concessions had been made by both sides He said the subject of acquisition of British bases in the Pacific had not been discussed but that America expected to have "a good many bases" in that area after finishing with the Japanese.

He sidestepped the point of the post-war fate of American bases developed on British soil.

Earlier it had been announced at the conclusion of the four-day discussion of post-war civil aviation that the two governments were agreed that international control should govern a large field of technical matters.

Servicemen To Pay Tribute to Bataan Heroes Easter Day

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, April 8—Thousands of American servicemen and women will gather at sunrise Sunday for services symbolizing the spirit which marked the eulogies for the men on Bataan, pronounced two years ago by Gen. Douglas MacArthur and President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines.

The anniversary of the loss of Bataan falls this year on Easter Sunday.

General MacArthur paid tribute to the Bataan heroes at the time in these words:

"The Bataan force went out as it would have wished—fighting to the end. No army has ever done so much with so little. Nothing become it more than its last hours of trial and agony."

Those Filipino and American soldiers, planeless airmen and shipless sailors and American Marines, held up the Japanese onslaught 3½ months.

Easter two years ago found the United Nations' cause in the Pacific near its lowest ebb. Easter this year finds the tide in the Pacific flowing westward and northward toward the Philippines and Asia, gathering power and speed with each advance.

Final N. C. O. League Decision Expected at Galion Wednesday

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

What is expected to be a "do or die" meeting of North Central Ohio conference athletic officials will be held at Galion Senior High school Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, A. C. May, principal of Marion Harding High, announced today.

No one connected with N. C. O. athletic affairs, seems to be certain what will be done at the meeting but without a doubt some sort of agreement or final decision in regard to the proposal to break up the league, will be made at the meeting.

This get-together is bound to be an important one because of the number of representatives from each school planning to attend. Probably the principal, faculty athletic manager, and head coach, and possibly assistant coach, of each school will be present. Representing Harding High will be Principal May, E. Paul Huffman, athletic manager, Head Coach Dewey N. Bohyer, and Joe Petrich, assistant mentor.

Number one topic for discussion at the meeting will be the proposal of Bucyrus and Shelby High schools, the N. C. O.'s two smallest members in respect to enrollment, that the loop be broken up. These two schools want the league to be disbanded because Ashland and Marion have far too large enrollments for the other circuit members. Head of the "break-up movement is Edwin Gearhart, Bucyrus High school principal and league president. His school and Shelby want the league to be split up, Marion and Ashland don't, and Galion and Mt. Vernon, at latest reports, are neutral, pending action of their athletic boards to decide one way or the other.

Bucyrus and Shelby officials propose to form a new league, in the event the N. C. O. is dissolved. along with Bucyrus and Shelby and possibly Galion, these non-league schools are reported to be interested in joining the new circuit: Norwalk, Willard, Crestline and Upper Sandusky. Norwalk seems to be siding in with Bucyrus and Shelby as it has ended a long football rivalry with Ashland. Norwalk says Ashland has too big a school to make any grid encounter between the two schools close and interesting.

Kentucky Favors Ohio on Fishing Licenses

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 8—Ohioans may obtain fishing and seining licenses for the Ohio river at Kentucky resident rates, the state conservation and natural resources commission reported at its annual spring meeting.

Kentucky has enacted legislation making non-resident Ohio river fishing fees comparable to those paid by Kentuckians, the commission said yesterday.

Agencies for license sales will be established at various points in southern Ohio, the commission said.

The commission agreed to set aside $83,000 to be divided among eight state projects. They are: administration and coordination; raccoon survey; muskrat survey; cooperative wildlife habitat development; Resthaven sanctuary development; wildlife food trees and shrubs; farm ponds and farm game survey.

Suspects Are Arrested Before Theft Reported

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., April 8—Three suspects, pursued by patrolmen because they were driving in a "peculiar way," were under arrest today in connection with the theft of clothing valued at $2,500.

The three, who police believed to be intoxicated, abandoned their car when the officers approached. A quantity of women's clothing was found in the car and the trio was arrested.

Two hours later proprietors of a store at Newcomerstown reported the burglary.

Reds and Chicago Cubs Play First of Two Contests

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 8—The Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs play the first of two exhibition games here today with Arnold Carter and Tomas De La Cruz, two rookies who Bill McKechnie is certain will make the grade this year, on the mound.

Manager McKechnie is fairly certain who the members of his 1944 pitching staff will be. In addition to the two aforementioned, he has Bucky Walters, Ray Starr, Elmer Riddle, and Ed Heusser. Joe Beggs, commissioned in the Navy, will be around until about May 1.

McKechnie's problem: (The same as last year's) who will do the hitting? Thus far in training no one of the squad of 29 has indicated he will beat down any outfield fences.

Following Sunday's game with the Cubs here, some of the Reds will go directly to Cincinnati to await the opening game April 18, while the others will return to Bloomington, Ind., to engage in final tuneups.

Snatches of Sports

BOUDREAU BOOKS THREE ACE PITCHERS FOR MOUND TODAY

Smith, Reynolds and Harder To Hurl Against Indianapolis Indians.

By The Associated Press

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 8 — Manager Lou Boudreau puts his ace hurlers on display today as the Cleveland Indians engage the Indianapolis club of the American association in the first of a two-game series.

Al Smith, the Tribe's leading hurler last year, Allie Reynolds, last season's American league strikeout king, and Mel Harder, dean of the elbowing corps, drew three inning assignments.

Smith and Harder appeared briefly in an intrasquad game last week but Reynolds had done no work except in batting practice. Smitty is Boudreau's choice to hurl the season opener against the White Sox at Chicago April 18. Reynolds probably will face the Pale Hose the following day, while Harder has been named to work the home opener against the Detroit Tigers at the stadium April 21.

Hurler Ray Poat, who decided to abandon his war job and play ball until his draft board calls, arrived in camp yesterday and participated in an indoor workout.

Boudreau is a flu victim and is not expected to play in the week-end series.

Higbe's Successor with Dodgers Defies Usual 13 Superstition

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 8—Baseball players are notoriously superstitious. Most of them shy away from wearing No. 13. To the few who don't, add the name of rookie pitcher Tom Warren, of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Warren, a 23-year-old Tulsa war veteran of Casabianca, apparently thinks what was good enough for Kirby Higbe is good enough for him. Higbe, star Dodger righthander now in the Army, was one of the minority who wore No. 13. Warren succeeded him as No. 13 and demonstrated yesterday that the supposed hoodoo number holds no terror for him.

Pitching five innings of shutout ball against the Montreal Internationals at Bear Mountain, N. Y., Warren yielded only three hits and won the game with a mighty two-run triple in the second inning.

New York Yankees—Outfielder Johnny Lindell was accepted for service in the Navy, it was learned after the world champions had abruptly ended the six-winning streak of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Detroit Tigers—Team opens five-game series with Pittsburgh today. Frank Overmire and Hal Newhouser are listed to pitch today.

Cincinnati Reds—Third baseman Steve Mesner, after holding out for three weeks, reported 10 pounds underweight.

Pittsburgh Pirates—Art Cuccurullo, rookie southpaw, scheduled to start against Tigers today.

St. Louis Cardinals and Browns—Rookie Al Jurisich of Cards is carded to oppose rookie Newman Shirley of Browns today in first of St. Louis city series.

Vacation in Florida Costs Gas Rations

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 8—Lowell Wadsworth of Sandusky, a partner in the Sandusky Roofing Co., has been deprived of supplemental gasoline rations for four months after a hearing of office of price administration officials on charges of excessive nonessential driving and illegal use of supplemental rations.

OPA hearing officer Charles Rogers said the suspension resulted from a vacation trip which Wadsworth made to Florida.

County High Schools To Hold Spring Track Meet This Year

War or no war, Marion county's track meet will be held this year with between seven and nine schools participating. The annual event will be staged May 6 in Prospect Community Park.

A decision to continue the meet was made by county athletic officials this week after results of questionnaires pertaining to the adviseability of holding one this year were tabulated. These questionaires were sent out by D. T. Mills, county superintendent to all county schools. It was found that seven schools were in favor of holding the meet with one or two others "sort of on the border line."

Several county schools advocated on their replies to the questionnaire forming a county scholastic softball league this spring to replace the track meet. However, county athletic board members feel that the spring weather would leave softball diamonds in poor condition for play but that the well-kept, cinder track at Prospect would be only slightly affected.

In charge of this year's meet is Merton Porter, head basketball and track coach at Pleasant Township High school. He was also head of last year's meet. He announced the following schools would definitely enter teams in the meet: Prospect, Waldo, Green Camp, Morral, Caledonia, Martel, and Pleasant. Grand Prairie and Meeker also may file entries, Porter said. Between 40 and 50 boys are expected to take part in the meet.

Prospect's thinclads, tutored by H. C. Sechrist, will be out to continue their reign of several yea as kingpin in county track. Pr pect won the title last season an finished on top on several tim before that. Listed as outstan threats to Prospect are Pleasa and Morral. With Wilmer E a veritable one-man track tea around, Morral is especially f vored to dethrone Prospect.

A few of the county schools be gan practicing for the meet th week but were hampered no by the inclement weather. If t weather takes a turn for bett next week, probably all t schools intending to partici in the meet will start prac sessions.

Chicago Cubs To Return To French Lick in 1945

By The Associated Press

FRENCH LICK, Ind., April 8—It will be back to Indiana in 1945 for spring training for the Chicago Cubs.

Vice President Jim Gallagher announced last night the club will return to French Lick, thus being assured of retaining first rights on the baseball field on the 18th fairway of the golf course.

The Chicago White Sox, which also have trained here the last two years, have made no announcement as to their 1945 spring training site.

Dracula Film on Marion Bill

Lon Chaney Picture on Double Bill with "The Mad Ghoul" Through Monday.

Features opening midnight tonight at the Marion theater are designed to send chills up and down anyone's spine. On the bill are "Son of Dracula," starring Lon Chaney, Louise Allbritton and Robert Paige, and "The Mad Ghoul" with Turhan Bey, Evelyn Ankers and David Bruce. The films will be shown through Monday.

"Son of Dracula" has as its main spook the Vampire in the person of Lon Chaney who goes about a country estate to find unsuspecting victims from whom he gains sustenance. Miss Allbritton is cast as one of the hapless people whose paths the Vampire crosses. Paige is cast as her fiancee. Things come to a head when Miss Allbritton dies and then suddenly makes a ghostly appearance.

A demented surgeon-scientist holds forth in "The Mad Ghoul." George Zucco is cast as the madman, Miss Ankers is a lovely concert singer for whose hand the mad scientist vies with David Bruce in the role of a young student doctor. Third man in the contest is Turhan Bey, who plays the part of Miss Ankers' accompanist. The crazed doctor holds forth in a cemetery where he finds human hearts for use in his experiments.

On a single bill playing Tuesday and Wednesday will be "Keeper of the Flame" with Spencer Tracy and Katherine Hepburn. Tracy, playing the role of a noted news correspondent, is assigned to trace the facts of the life of a great patriot recently killed in an accident. As he hunts for subject matter he meets the famous man's young widow. Miss Hepburn is cast as this woman of whom Tracy suspects murder. In retlity it is disclosed that she had only attempted to preserve her husband's memory unstained.

"Pride of the Plains" with Bob Livingston, Smiley Burnette, and Nancy Gay, and "The Whistler," featuring Richard Dix and Gloria Stuart will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

Students' Sunrise Service To Be at Harding Memorial

Plans were completed yesterday for the annual Easter sunrise service of the Hi-Y and High school Girl Reserves to be held at 7:30 Sunday morning at the Harding Memorial. Arrangements were made by the two groups in cooperation with the Y. M. C. A. The service is open to the public.

Rev. W. P. Behan, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, will deliver an Easter message. The remaining portion of the service will be in charge of members of the sponsoring organizations. A trumpet duet by Bob Boyd and Lawrence Feaver will open the service. Bill Williams, president of the Hi-Y council, will give the call to so worship after which an Easter morning thought will be expressed by Ann Weidemann, Harding Girl Reserve president.

Singing of hymns will be led by Bruce Nystrom. The Scripture lesson from St. Matthew, 8: 1-10 will be read by John McKenney, and Robert Saxton, president of the Thomas Edison Hi-Y, will offer prayer.

Peggy Hale will lead a responsive reading "A Reaffirmation of Faith," and Grace Cyders, president of the Thomas Edison Girl Reserves, will pronounce a benediction.

If unfavorable weather conditions should prevail, services will be held in Trinity Baptist church on South Main street.

GINGER ROGERS appears in the fantasy circus scene from "Lady in the Dark" at the Palace Sunday through Saturday, in which eggs form the audience. Co-stars with Miss Rogers are Ray Milland, Warner Baxter and John Hall.

Ginger Rogers Picture Billed for Week at Palace Theater

Lady in the Dark" To Start Run Tomorrow; Taken from Recent Broadway Hit.

"Lady in the Dark," starring Ginger Rogers, Ray Milland, Warner Baxter and Jon Hall, will start Sunday to be shown through next Saturday at the Palace theater.

Taken from the recent Broadway fantasy favorite in which Gertrude Lawrence starred in the leading role, the film tells the story of a successful woman magazine editor whose nerves almost snap. Liza Elliott, the woman editor, is played by Miss Rogers. In the "Saga of Jenny" sequence in which she appears as a little girl at a circus Miss Rogers has an opportunity to display her singing and dancing talents. The circus sequence is one of the most unreal scenes in the picture. Large eggs take the place of an audience on the bleachers and clowns turn out to be caricatures of persons involved in Liza's life.

When Liza reveals her subconscious mind in the office of a psychoanalyst, she heself finds the causes of her unhappy life. Other fantastic scenes in the psychoanalyst's office are the blue, green and gold dreams which are used to advantage in the technicolor film. In her dreams Liza cavorts with men who in actual life she had considered marrying. Jenny finally solves the puzzle through her imagined adventures and lands in the arms of a man for whom she has never shown the slightest admiration.

Ray Milland takes the part of the advertising manager of Liza's magazine. Warner Baxter plays the role of a man Liza thinks she loves, and Jon Hall is cast as a famous motion picture star.

Tunes in the picture were taken from the Broadway musical, the score of which was written by Ira Gershwin and Kurt Weill.

Music Comedy Now at Ohio

"Four Jills and a Jeep" To Be on Screen Through Next Thursday

"Four Jills and a Jeep," starring Carole Landis, Kay Francis, Martha Raye and Mitzi Mayfair with Dick Haymes and Jimmy Dorsey's orchestra is being shown now through Thursday at the Ohio theater.

The four "jills" in question are the above mentioned movie stars, inveigled to make a tour of camps overseas. Immediately on their arrival in England after landing on a blacked out airstrip Miss Raye meets her dish in the person of a young officer who has been assigned to escort the girls on their tour of bases there. Drama vies with comedy in the picture and music is added for extra measure by the Dorsey band. Alice Faye, Carmen Miranda and Betty Grable appear in specialty numbers. George Jessel acts as master of ceremonies.

"Passage to Marseille" starring Humphrey Bogart, Claude Rains and Michele Morgan will start Friday to play for seven days.

The valiant contribution of those Frenchmen who are fighting Fascism provides the background for this picture. Bogart is seen as Matrac, an anti-Nazi who has been sent to Devil's island, the infamous French prison colony on charges trumped up by the Nazis. There he plots to escape with four other convicts and attempt to return to France.

The men return at the time of French capitulation and continue their fight by flight to England, with the Nazis and collaborationists hot on their heels.

South America has nearly twice the area of Europe, but only one-sixth the population.

BUYING PROPS MANY ISSUES

Investment Purchases Help But Some Leaders Show Losses.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 8—It was a "sandwich" stock market today, sliced in between the Good Friday holiday and Easter, and, while investment buying propped up many favorites, small losses for leaders were plentiful.

Few customers showed up in the financial sector, the majority having left Thursday for an extended recess. Those who appeared seemed bullish over political prospects and the earnings outlook despite mounting taxes and other charges. The hopeful war picture in Russia and the Pacific was offset as a market factor by murky Indian and Italian situations.

The inflation stimulant was neutralized to some extent by the President's report on the stabilization of wages and living costs.

Mixed tendencies prevailed at the start and trends were a trifle uneven near the close, with plus signs well distributed. Transfers for the two hours were around 400,000 shares.

Supported were Gulf, Mobile & Ohio, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, J. C. Penney, Oliver Farm, Westinghouse, American Telephone, International Telephone and Western Union "A."

Backward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Kennecott, General Electric, United Aircraft, Deere and Chesapeake & Ohio.

NYLON ROPE STRONGER

LOS ANELES—Nyon rope is stronger than manila rope of corresponding thickness, Ralph W. Hemphill, founder of the Plastics Institute here, said. Airplanes use nylon rope to pick up mail and cargo at 117 non-stop Eastern stations and cargo and troop-carrying gliders use the rope for towing, Hemphill pointed out.

HOG MARKET HURT BY LABOR SHORTAGE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 8—One of the principal factors in holding back a rise in hog prices, livestock observers said today, is the diminishing supply of labor at many of the packing plants.

Last week shipments were heavy and processing plants were unable to keep ahead of supplies with the result that a price break was inevitable. Daily losses occurred all week, bringing the top down to the lowest levels in over a month.

When supplies started to increase after having passed the peak of the current marketing season, livestock observers felt that farmers were shipping their heavy weight butchers in an effort to beat the gun on the government's announcement that the heaviest weights in the support bracket would be dropped on April 15.

The most popular class swine at the Chicago market recently has been the light weights of good and choice grades. These animals are easier to dispose of after slaughtering and with an oversupply of lard on the market, t heavier weights and sows h been slow in moving. In instan heavier weights have sold ly at as the support program Military permit.

Swine supplies were ing all this week in an effor sport—a some of the price losses to indi- daily gains prevail ses in part, ous highs were noty had been some days the toking maneu- within sight of last my and cav- but was not paid freely which

Good and choice fed stes and yearlings were strong to 25 cent higher this week. The week's t price was $16.90. Hog price gained slightly during the middle of the week. The week's top of $14.15 was reached Thursday, but slipped back down to $13.95 yesterday. Lambs were strong to 25 cents higher, mostly 10 to 15 cents higher than last week's close. The closing top was $16.65.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

KATIE'S face emerged from the apron she had thrown over her head with the ingratiating smile she always wears when her "snooping," her greatest fault, has been found out and she is trying to atone in deeds as well as words.

"Oh—oh, Mesis Graham!" she ejaculated. "My dinner all planned. We going to half dot grape juice ve canned last fall, and cream of tomato soup from tomatoes ve canned, and roast schikens and potatoes, and asparagus vot ve canned, and cabbage and celery salad—schoost lettle bit onion—and a hot apple pie and coffee! Everyting from place except coffee and sugar and flour."

Her face was aglow with the pride which is hers in the effort we are making to produce enough so that we shall not have to add a burden on an already depleted market. I gave her another affectionate pat on the shoulder as I turned toward the door.

"That will be a wonderful dinner, Katie," I said. "How long before it will be ready?"

"About hour, maybe lettle more," she said. "Me, I got my schickens in already."

"Fine," I said as I went out of the door.

But I found that I could not go directly to my father's suite where Hugh and Lee Chow were hidden, because my small daughter, the only possible betrayer of their secret, was descending the stairs, one hand on the banisters, the other dragging her dress behind her.

"Oh, Mummie!" she greeted me "I'm such a good girl!"

She rolled her eyes dramatically, and went on.

Good Girl

"I woke up all by myself, and I climbed out of bed all myself, and I went to bathroom all by myself, and I put on my shoes and stockings and all my sings all by myself, and my dress. But I got my dress wrong, so I took it off, and brought it down to you. Wasn't I a good girl, Mummy? And will you tell me a story now? And may I have a cookie, and may—"

I stopped the flow of eloquence with a kiss and, catching her in my arms, brought her down the remaining steps in the swooping movement which delighted her.

"You're a very good girl," I said. "Now I'll put your dress on right, and tie your shoes, and take you in to Katie. She may give you one cookie, if you'll promise not to ask her for any more, and you may watch her get dinner, if you'll sit quietly in a chair and not go out of the kitchen. Will you promise those things?"

"Sure thing! Cross my heart and hope to die!" she chanted with the blithe carelessness which I knew meant probable forgetfulness, but I took the promise at its face value, finished dressing her, and took her in to Katie.

"Better wipe her face and hands off with a damp cloth, Katie," I said, "and she may have one cookie, no more. And she may sit quietly and watch you get dinner, but do not let her leave the kitchen until I come back for her."

"Okay, I take her," Katie assured me.

Surprise

"I'll have a surprise for you, Faith, when I come back," I told her, and then sped up the stairs, past my mother-in-law's room, where I was sure she was having her belated nap, then on to the door which connects our corridor with the one which is outside the wing containing my father's suite.

I unlocked the door which I had carefully secured before I left, so that there should be no chance of Faith's straying into the wing, and locking it behind me, went to my father's suite and knocked. Hugh opened the door, and after one glance at me, pulled out an easy chair and quickly put me into it.

"Rest for a bit," he said, with anxiety in his voice, "before you tell me anything. You look as if you'd been through the wars."

"I do?" I said surprised, and a bit chagrined. "I didn't think I'd been blown about at all."

"I don't mean your clothing," he said impatiently. "It shows in your eyes. Rest a bit before you talk."

Tone Determined

His tone was determined, and I obeyed his edict, for it was less trouble to lie back in my chair and relax than it was to argue with him. But after a bit I gave a surreptitious glance at my wrist watch, and heard him give an amused chuckle.

"I don't suppose it's any use trying to keep you tethered any longer," he said. "So get everything off your chest. I certainly do not wish to see you exploding into fragments all over the room."

I never have felt less like laughing, but I supposed a laugh was expected, so gave an anemic cackle the best thing I could fetch from my dry throat, as I sat up in my chair, and prepared to tell him everything that had happened.

"You don't have to pay tribute to my alleged humor," Hugh said dryly, but with an intonation in his voice which I knew spelled amusement with no trace of rancor. "It was a pretty awful jest, I acknowledge, and your feeble peep just now was more than ample payment. Let's forget it, and will you please tell me everything that has happened since you left us. Everything, remember, even the varying intonations of the gifted Mr. Shumway's voice."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Blood Pressure

A letter from Detroit says: "I would like to have your treatment for high blood pressure. I am 55 years old and tests show my blood pressure is 180. There seem to be scores of people troubled this way."

This is an appeal ad hominem, since he asks me for my treatment for high blood pressure and I am in about the same condition he is, I will give my treatment of myself.

I should preface it by saying, however, that I had another letter from a fellow who said: "The [illegible] on you. You turned me down for life insurance on account of high blood pressure in [illegible] I am still going strong." [illegible] news to me. I see a [illegible] daily—on the golf [illegible] about the merits of [illegible] had really high blood [illegible]—none of your little 180 [illegible]—and I turned them down [illegible] life insurance. And, let me see —how long ago was that? Well, I haven't examined for life insurance for at least twenty years. And they are still going strong.

I think the life insurance companies have softened up on their standards a good deal in the last few years.

I tried to find out a few years ago just what was the incidence of high blood pressure in people over 50. How many out of a hundred at that age have a reading of over 150? I wrote to a number of the largest life insurance companies and they didn't know. One or two offered to look it up for me and finally said their figures indicated about 15 per cent, but since they rejected all applicants with a pressure over 150, they were not certain that figure was right.

So I asked a number of physicians to give me the blood pressure readings consecutively on a number of of their patients over 50 years of age, no matter what disease they had. The first report that came in showed 52 per cent had it, which surprised everybody. We thought it was inaccurate, but later reports were about the same. And let me emphasize that these physicians were not specialists in heart work or high blood pressure, so the cases were not selective. One was a nose and throat specialist and he found 66 per cent of his patients over 50 had a blood pressure over 150.

My first conclusion then is that more of us have it than don't have it. And we do pretty well with it.

I am not trying to minimize the seriousness of the sign. I am perfectly aware that it accompanies or is the cause of kidney disease, Bright's disease, and apoplexy, and heart disease and diabetes and a lot of other conditions. But:

A. The severe, crippling cases are in the minority. Most people never know they have it and die at an advanced age of something else.

B. With a few exceptions—such as angina pectoris and cramps in the legs—it is not painful.

C. Why worry about it because I never knew of any treatment, diet, drug, surgical operation which ever changed anybody's blood pressure for any length of time.

Now to get down to my method of treating my own case. I go to bed between 10 p. m. and 2 a. m. every night. I never get up until after I awaken. After dressing I go down to breakfast. I am very careful about my diet. I eat whatever they put before me, and I have been very careful that no one in my house has heard about blood pressure diets. Then I work about eight hours, punctuated by lunch, several cigars, and an hour's walk. Then I go home and sit down and smoke two or three cigars before dinner. Then I go to the movies or turn on the radio, or read and then go to bed. And I never let anyone take my blood pressure if I can help it or tell me what my blood pressure is.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. A. R.: Is a heart murmur curable? What are its signs and symptoms? Does it affect the life span of the individual?

Answer: There are about twenty kinds of heart murmurs—some curable, some not. The sign of a heart murmur is a heart murmur. Some murmurs shortens life, some do not.

DISABLED ON JOB

By The United Press

CHICAGO—The Disabled Persons Assn. of America revealed in a survey of war industries that absenteeism among disabled workers is less than among other personnel.

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, April 9

SUNDAY's horoscope is in auspicious and felicitous one for the normal and conventional vocations and avocations of the Sabbath. The spiritual aspirations are quickened and the cultural and charitable propensities under excellent impetus to achievement in cherished lines. This probably to the extent of public, community or fraternal recognition and reward.

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to expect a year of steady advance upon worthwhile objectives and high ambitions with the talents abilities and initiative keyed to brilliant performance and accomplishment. It is probable that this concentration of merits and skills may claim public appreciation.

A child born on this day may be endowed with brilliant abilities to win for itself honored and lucrative returns for its well-organized efforts.

For Monday, April 10

Monday's astrological forecast, although promising that things may be expected to move at high tempo, and under excitedly accelerated pressure, it is probable that this condition may be due to wrestling with many kinds of adverse and tricky events or circumstances. All manner of extravagances, with energies, funds and spoken or written words should be averted rigidly.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a strenuous and aggressive year. In order to protect their interests, funds and well-being personal and business, from snares, maleficent entanglements, treachery and fraud. All forms of prodigality, carelessness and extravagance should be vigorously subdued. In crisis it might be well to confer with elders or superiors.

A child born on this day should possess much initiative, energy and constructive ability, which it will need to sidestep many phases of treachery, betrayal and sorrow, both in business and private avocations.

RED, WHY DON'T YOU TAKE YOUR PLOTS AND SCRAM? IF YOU KEEP BUSTING INTO MY SLEEP I'LL BE SUCH A MESS YOU WON'T HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT YOUR OLD MAN GETTING WOLF-EARED!
YOU MAY STILL PROVE USEFUL TO ME... WHEN YOU ARE NOT. I SHALL SEE THAT YOUR YANKEE FLIPPERY DIES IN YOUR MOUTH!
GO PET YOUR COBRAS, CHUB... I WOULDN'T MAKE A PLAY FOR THAT EX-GRUNTER YOU'RE MARRIED TO!... I DON'T SEE HOW YOU STAND HAVING YOUR EARS TICKLED BY THOSE HANDLEBARS—OR DO YOU, DEAR?
FOR PETE'S SAKE, COME IN, TERRY... IF I HADN'T TALKED FAST, THAT KING SIZE KATRINKA WOULD HAVE HEARD YOUR NUMBER TWELVES BUMPING ON THE WALL... IF YOU'RE GOING TO PLAY ROMEO, MAKE IT A SOCK-O PERFORMANCE!

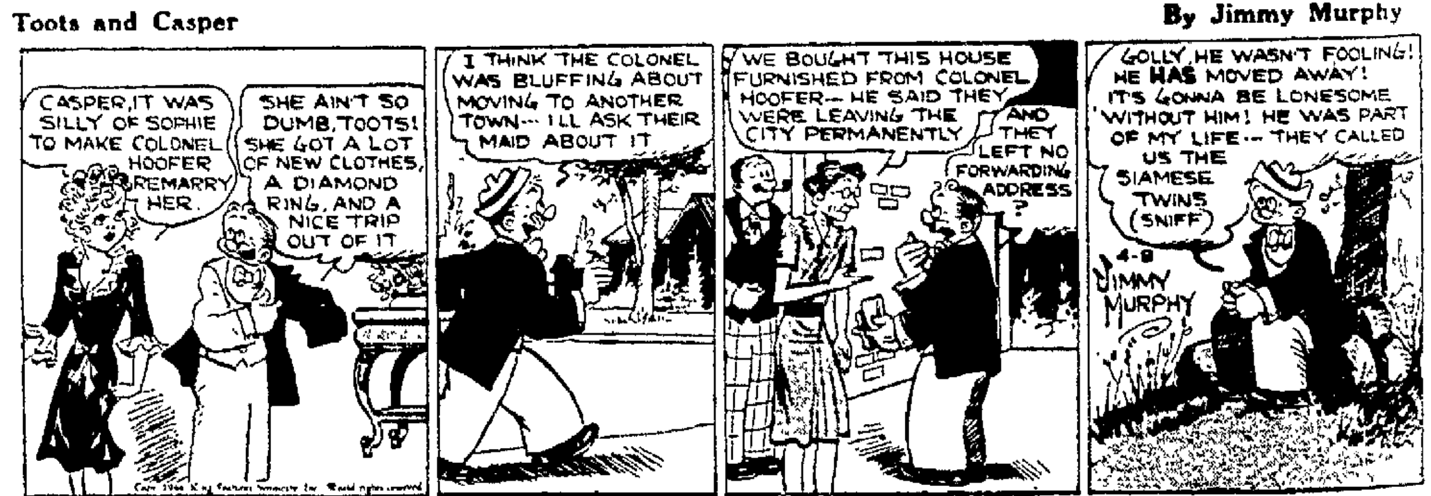
Toots and Casper

By Jimmy Murphy



CASPER, IT WAS SILLY OF SOPHIE TO MAKE COLONEL HOOFER REMARRY HER.
SHE AIN'T SO DUMB, TOOTS! SHE GOT A LOT OF NEW CLOTHES, A DIAMOND RING, AND A NICE TRIP OUT OF IT
I THINK THE COLONEL WAS BLUFFING ABOUT MOVING TO ANOTHER TOWN--- I'LL ASK THEIR MAID ABOUT IT
WE BOUGHT THIS HOUSE FURNISHED FROM COLONEL HOOFER-- HE SAID THEY WERE LEAVING THE CITY PERMANENTLY
GOLLY, HE WASN'T FOOLING! HE HAS MOVED AWAY! IT'S GONNA BE LONESOME WITHOUT HIM! HE WAS PART OF MY LIFE -- THEY CALLED US THE SIAMESE TWINS (SNIFF)
